

OHIO UNIVERSITY
EDWIN WATTS CHUBB
LIBRARY

ATHENS • OHIO

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2010 with funding from
Lyrasis Members and Sloan Foundation

<http://www.archive.org/details/ohioalumnusoctob311ohio>

October 1952

THE
OHIO
ALUMNUS

The Magazine of The Ohio University Alumni Association

Editor

ROBERT W. MCCREANOR, '48, MS '49

Sports Editor

JACK GILBERT, '52

Student Writers

NANCY LANPHEAR, '53
KEN JACOBSON, '54

Publisher

CLARK E. WILLIAMS, '21

In This Issue

The American Economy
Industry, labor, agriculture, government, and education cooperate in three weeks of workshop 5

On and About the Green
Picture proof of the great progress being made on new Student Union 11

The Faculty
Dr. Kreckler retires — Dr. Lehman shows your chances for a $1,000,000 'As Much a Part of Me as My Name' 14

Alumnus E. C. "Shive" Shively concludes trusteeship 15

The Bobcats
Wild preps squad for '52 — Network to broadcast OU games 16

Speaking of Alumni
Harry Lee Ridenour retires at Baldwin-Wallace 18

On the Alumni Front
Southern California and St. Louis summer meetings pictured 20

Alumni in the Armed Forces
Four deaths reported — List of OU men and women in uniform grows 22

Here and There Among the Alumni
News about you and your classmates 24

from the Editor's Desk . . .

TWO WIDELY distributed industrial magazines, Pure Oil Co.'s Pure Oil News and The Line, publication of the Tennessee Gas Transmission Co., featured stories about Ohio University in recent issues. Both articles were pegged to the University's coming Sesqui-centennial, and each gave a resume of Ohio University history and what the University is today.

The Pure Oil News commissioned Freda Ashley Martin, '51, MS '52, then a journalism student working on her master's degree, to do its four-page story, which included pictures of six campus scenes, a picture of President Baker, and one of the author. The 56-page magazine is published in Chicago and distributed free to Pure Oil employees everywhere, plus some paying subscribers.

The Line, whose company laid its huge gas transmission lines through Athens County and established a permanent compressor station near Albany on U. S. Route 50, is published in Houston, Tex., and is read by thousands of employees, friends, and stockholders in states stretching from the Southwest to the Northeast sections of the country. Two of its 30 pages in its July issue were given over to the Ohio University story.

The Alumnus would like to commend both magazines on their general excellence and congratulate the editors of each (Walter Waldhauser of The Line and H. E. Sibley, '10, of The Pure Oil News) for this particular instance of editorial astuteness.

We feel that thousands of their readers were entertained and informed in an interesting way as they were introduced to Ohio University.

EDITOR SIBLEY devoted a good part of his editor's department to a discussion of his days at Ohio University. It needs quoting, for he gives a picture of college life unfamiliar to most of us:

"Having received a year and one-half preparatory work and my freshman instruction at Ohio University long, long ago, it was pleasant to visit the campus at Athens in May in search of an article about this fine institution . . .

"Mixed emotions were the first result of a visit to the Ohio University campus. College algebra was a required freshman subject when we were there.

The Cover

The Class of '48 Fountain, which might vie for your attention in this month's cover picture by George Craven, Oreland, Pa., senior, is a relative newcomer to the campus. It's been a part of only a couple of the beautiful early fall scenes such as this. The boy and the girl are new, too, in a sense—but yet they're as old as you. The boy and the girl change each year, or every four years, but the serene loveliness and the quiet thrill of a campus autumn ever repeats.

OFFICERS AND EXECUTIVE STAFF OF THE OHIO UNIVERSITY ALUMNI ASS'N.
(Member of the American Alumni Council)

Carr Liggett, '16	President
Alice Edwards Wright, '27	V. Pres. Edward B. Wright, '38
Clark E. Williams, '21	Sec'y. William H. Fenzel, '18
	Treas.

MEMBERS-AT-LARGE OF EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Peter F. Good, '26 Clifford L. Hughes, '33

EXECUTIVE STAFF

Clark E. Williams, '21	Alumni Secretary
Martin L. Hecht, '46	Associate Secretary
Robert W. McCreanor, '48; '49	Editor, The Ohio Alumnus
Geraldine C. Hope, '22	Staff Secretary
Eleanor A. Minister	Staff Secretary

THE OHIO ALUMNUS is published monthly from October to June, inclusive, by The Ohio University Alumni Association. THE ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTION RATE of $3.50 includes membership in The Ohio University Alumni Association. Remittance should be made by check or money order payable to The Ohio University Alumni Association, PO Box 285, Athens. Entered as second class matter, October 3, 1923, at the post office at Athens, Ohio, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

That was where our trouble began, and we hope the subject is no longer required for one who never expects to need anything more in mathematics than simple addition and subtraction, with the possibility of a small bit of division now and then. Our mathematical association with the eminent Dr. William Hoover was neither pleasant nor informative and we flunked the course twice, making a lower grade on the second attempt than on the first.

"Then there was Dr. Edwin Watts Chubb. He must have liked young boys who attended his classes. He struggled to make them enjoy literature, he explained it, made fictional characters live, and, at the same time, he won the affection of many of those he taught . . .

"Students of today are surely more mature for their years than they were in our day. Three young men fired a cannon emplaced on the campus one crisp fall night. A stupid thing to do, since the cannon was condemned. Of course the one selected for the experiment was close to the girl's dormitory. The explosion of the overcharged cannon broke windows throughout the neighborhood.

"The local newspaper carried a story about the outrage and made public a $50 reward offered by General Grosvenor for information leading to the arrest of the guilty persons. A $25 reward was offered by the General's law partner, also. The partner, the late E. J. Jones, was the father of one of the boys in the venture. The police soon discovered that this son had bought a large bag of powder, so the matter was dropped.

"In terms of money, education was cheap in those days. Father provided the funds to get me started each term and thereafter he mailed a check for $6 weekly. This was during preparatory work and the freshman year. Weekly room rent in a pleasant, private home was $1; meals at the Schaefer boarding club, operated by "Boscoe" Hymen and "Chico" Crisp, if memory serves, cost $2.25 weekly. Laundry was at a similar low cost. We moved in comparatively exclusive circles socially, and the funds seemed adequate. It should be mentioned, however, that we were a 'prep' and a freshman, and not often welcomed when the ladies were present.

"Many old friends have vanished in the recollection that has become foggy with the passing of the years. We wonder about Tewksberry, "Turk" Gibson, Bill Fletcher, the Beckler brothers, "Doc" Bean, "Tink" Hamilton, "Fritz" Kenney, Hooper, and others. And there was Freda, Louise, and Edith whom we admired from a distance. How nice it is to relax in the memory of the pleasant people of our youth and the happy days of our early years."

WE TIP our eyeshade, also, to The Orange Disc of the Gulf Companies, another excellent company publication for employees and shareholders.

The Gulf magazine carried in its July-August number a comprehensive report on the address "The Challenge of Tomorrow's Problems," given by Gift President S. A. Swensrud at the June Commencement. The story was illustrated with a picture of the Commencement crowd under the Elms; one of President Baker, Mr. Swensrud, and the Rev. Dr. Boynton Merrill, who gave the Baccalaureate sermon; and a third shot was a half-page picture of Cutler Hall.

(Note to Editor Donald C. White of The Orange Disc: Our comment on your excellent report of Mr. Swensrud's speech and our gratitude for your good use of Ohio University pictures are not offered in the offhand sort of way that might be inferred. We were made up when your piece was brought to our attention; so the best we could do was "add." Ed.)

Letters

B-r-r-r

I have been receiving the Alionus for about a year now, and I am beginning to wonder when you will put the bite on me for a subscription. I want to keep receiving this fine rag, and any delay or hesitation in delivery would break my heart, so, when the free ride ends, please continue my subscription and bill me for the fee.

I was touched by your kind offer to sell me those fine football tickets, but I am not quite sure that I can accept. Do I receive any assistance in leaving Greenland each Saturday? That is, does the price of the ticket include any guarantee of attendance privilege? I would frankly be content to hear the game on the radio, but even that is not possible WATH just doesn't come in well enough here north of the arctic circle. One of these days perhaps they will up their power a few kilowatts to provide a far north service. Or possibly WOU-FM will erect some special directive antenna for the benefit of outlying alums. Be sure to bring this up at the next board meeting.

For the record, I have just been promoted to the position of supervising engineer with the firm of E. C. Page, Consulting Radio Engineers, of Washington, D. C. My work continues to keep me in the field, and it is most interesting. Someday I hope to get back to Athens to see the place again, but I haven't been out of Greenland since last Christmas. I will try to get a picture of myself, but so far I have not been able to persuade any one to do the evil deed.

Since the temperatures are up as high as 30 above zero, we don't wear much heavy clothing. In a few weeks it might get cool, but it won't really get cold for almost a month. That is, it won't get much below minus 20 for quite a while.

I have a tape recorder in the shack here, and I may run off 15 minutes or so for you . . . I will let you listen to the howling of the lemmings as they dance in the light of the aurora borealis. Not only that, but I might be able to catch the crackle of starlight as it strikes the ground, or the crash of pack ice blown by the wind into the path of a monstrous iceberg. If none of these phenomena are available to the microphone, I will let you hear my voice as it crackles across the tundra.

I am truly sorry that I did not send a picture as you requested, but we really spend very little time taking pictures, and it is quite a problem getting the film processed. I will try to get a shot before the snow comes, for after winter sets in it is hard to recognize anyone under all the clothes.

Kindest regards to all, and keep up the good work. I am a little lonesome for the Athens mob and scenery, but the magazine helps to keep me in touch. I have lost contact with most of my classmates, but now and again I find a familiar name in the list of new millionaires, or latest income tax evaders.

Jean Jolkovski, '51, President, Greenland branch, OU alumni organization (by popular acclaim)
Page Engineers
APO 121 9 P.M., N.Y.

Recalls Event of 60 Years Ago

I am in receipt of the June issue of the Ohio Alionus which I very greatly appreciate, but it brings tears to my eyes when I consider that not a single face therein contained is known to me. Many years have gone by since I left Athens for my birthplace, but one thing stands out vividly and that is a paper read by a young lady entitled, "400 Years Hence." She had been preceded by another young lady who read a paper "400 Years Ago." They both stood on a high platform built just inside the campus entrance from Main Street, and the northwest corner of the campus on October 12, 1892. I cannot recall a single word that the first lady uttered, but I remember many statements contained in the second paper, and I am sure it would be of great value if it can be produced and printed in your next issue of the Alionus. I cannot recall her name, but she certainly had a nose for vision, notwithstanding the fact that wireless, telegraphy, radio, television and airplanes and the like were wholly unknown. Among other things, she said, "In the next 400 years we will take our breakfast in New York and our dinner in London." (We are doing that now.) "We will sit in our homes and talk to people in other countries, we will communicate with vessels on the high seas, we will gather music from the air," and many other kindred statements. These predictions having been made long before such things were generally thought of characterizes the paper as one well worthy of reproduction.

A. A. George, '85
First National Bank Building
Zanesville, Ohio

We're Sorry You Missed Any

I certainly do look forward to the Alionus every month. Last year I had some trouble in getting every copy. Believe me, when one of those issues doesn't come through it is a big disappointment. I especially like the class notes. One can lose contact with old friends so quickly. I am also interested in all the construction that is taking place there. It is really wonderful.

After graduation in 1951, I entered a dietetic internship at the Christ-Hospital here. That period of training ended in July of this year. I started working at Children's

From the President's Office

THE WORKSHOP ON ECONOMIC EDUCATION

It is my feeling, as well as that of many faculty members, that the Ohio Workshop on Economic Education is one of the most important developments at Ohio University in recent years. It is an outstanding example of a university cooperating with other institutions and with individuals in a broad extracurricular service to the state. It is evidence of a university being a place, as described by Cardinal Newman, "... in which the intellect may safely range and speculate, sure to find its equal in some antagonist activity, and its judge in the tribunal of truth ... a place where inquiry is pushed forward, and discoveries verified and perfected, and rashness rendered innocuous, and error exposed, by the collision of mind with mind, and knowledge with knowledge."

The 1952 Ohio Workshop on Economic Education, the first of what we hope will be a continuing series, was successful in every way. The participants invariably responded to a "How do you like the workshop?" question with high praise for the idea generally and for the staff, visiting speakers, topics, and, certainly not unimportant, the hospitality, friendliness, and efficiency of Ohio University.

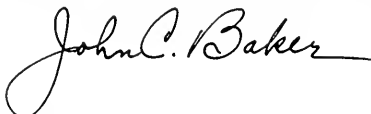

These teachers, mature, responsible, and significant persons in their communities, early sensed the importance of the workshop. They knew they were participating in an event that, as it continues, should influence the economic, social, and political life of the state. As one teacher remarked on leaving, "You'll never know the end-result of this program on our teaching."

Conflict is present in our society as in all societies. It can lead to mischievous schisms and failure or to cooperation and success. The basic purpose of the workshop was to develop understanding among all those who attended so they could return to their home communities and help develop harmony and reduce conflict.

The success of the Ohio Workshop on Economic Education denotes a sound, carefully planned program. And such a program approved by all implies the presence of capable men and women, motivated by a firm belief in the worthwhileness of what they are doing.

From the beginning of the economic education workshop idea a year ago, when Dean Kabat and I met with Dr. Derwood Baker, director of the Joint Council on Economic Education, through the post-workshop summations and reports, many persons gave generously of their time and knowledge. To name a few here would perhaps be an injustice to many. Certainly sincere thanks should go to the Committee on Economic Development and the Joint Council on Economic Education, which for a period of years have backed the workshop idea in many states. The workshop is also indebted to our trustees, especially C. Don McVay, '15, who personally devoted much time to the entire program. Dean Kabat met various persons and groups throughout the state over a period of several months to stimulate interest in and support for the workshop and closely followed the entire program at all times.

One of the most gratifying aspects of the workshop was the support of organizations and individuals representing business and industry, labor and agriculture when we asked them to underwrite the total expense of the program. This cooperation by the different groups in our economy is a tribute to the University and the economic education workshop idea, and it attests to the honesty and sincerity of the leaders of the different groups who supported it. This common support of our workshop is a sign of "good health" in our free economic system. It signifies a common objective among the constituents within that system, even though, because they are free, they frequently contend with each other.

Hospital August 1, as the therapeutic dietitian.

Rebecca A. Parkinson, '51,
3254 Harvey Ave., Apt. 1
Cincinnati 29, Ohio

Thank You

May I say that I thoroughly enjoy the Alumnus, particularly the articles on the new buildings and improvements to the campus. I wonder if I would even know it now after some eight years. It must be even nicer than when I left. Thanks so much for your interesting articles.

Helen Degner Faulkner, '44
2512 N. Main St.
Findlay, Ohio

ORGANIZATIONS AND INDIVIDUALS WHOSE CONTRIBUTIONS FINANCED THE WORKSHOP ON ECONOMIC EDUCATION:

American Steel and Wire Co., Cleveland; E. W. Bliss Company, Toledo; Barg-Warner Corporation, Pesca Products Division, Bedford; Brush-Maere Newspapers, Canton; Buckeye Tools Corporation, Dayton; Central Ohio Paper Company; Columbus; Cleveland Electric Illuminating Company, Cleveland; Cleveland Graphite Bronze Company, Cleveland; Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company, Columbus; Raymond G. Crisp, Akron; Murat H. Davidson, Cincinnati; Dayton Malleable Iron Company, Dayton; Dayton Power and Light Company, Dayton; Duriron Company, Inc., Dayton; Electric Auto-Lite Company, Toledo.

R. D. Evans, Akron; Federal Glass Company, Columbus; Federated Department Stores, Inc., Cincinnati; Fifth Third Union Trust Company (The Jacob G. Schmidlapp Trust), Cincinnati; Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, Akron, B. F. Goodrich Company, Akron; Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Akron; George Gund, Cleveland; Hamilton Industrial Council, Hamilton; Hamilton Lumber Company, Hamilton; M. A. Hanna Company, Cleveland; Richard H. Kahn, Cleveland; Kruger Company, Cincinnati; Lawson Milk Company, Cuyahoga Falls; League of Ohio Sportsmen, Ravenna; Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company, Toledo; McNeil Machine and Engineering Company, Akron; C. Don McVay, Leray; National Cash Register Company, Dayton.

National City Bank, Cleveland; National Rubber Machinery Company, Akron; National Screw and Manufacturing Company, Cleveland; Ohio Association of Small Loans Companies, Columbus; Ohio Bankers Association, Columbus; Ohio Bell Telephone Company, Cleveland; Ohio Brass Company, Mansfield; Ohio C. I. O. Council, Columbus; Ohio Discount Conference, Cleveland; Ohio Edison Company, Akron; Ohio Farm Bureau Cooperative Association, Columbus; Ohio Farm Bureau Insurance Company, Columbus; Ohio Farmers Insurance Company, Leray.

Ohio Reclamation Association, Cleveland; Ohio State Medical Association, Columbus; Ornamental Iron Work Company, Akron; Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corporation, Toledo; Owens-Illinois Glass Company, Toledo; Pennsylvania Railroad, Cleveland; Price Brothers Company, Dayton; Practer & Gamble Company, Cincinnati; Quaker Oats Company, Akron; Rite-Kumler Company, Dayton; A. G. Spieker, Toledo; Standard Cash Register, Dayton; Standard Oil Company of Ohio, Cleveland; Talan Company, Meadville, Pa.; Thompson Products, Inc., Main Plant, Cleveland; Thompson Products, Inc., Tapco Plant, Euclid; Timken Roller Bearing Company, Canton; Toledo Edison Company, Toledo; Toledo Small Business Association, Toledo; Union Bank of Commerce, Cleveland.

The American Economy

Ohio University's Workshop on Economic Education gives teachers a thorough look at many-sided American economic system and urges more attention to the study of it in high schools

CARLYLE called it "the dismal science," but economics as presented in Ohio University's First Ohio Workshop on Economic Education would have caused the dour Scot to reexamine his appraisal.

The past summer's investigation of the workings of the American economic system, an investigation carried out by nearly a hundred school teachers from all parts of the state (plus four from neighboring states) in no way bore out the Carlylian epithet. There was nothing gloomy or depressing about the surroundings or circumstances, nothing gloomy to the eye or ear, cheerless, or dreary in any part of the June 15-July 3 program.

On the contrary, the three weeks of daily workshop sessions (with emphasis on work) maintained a high pitch of participant interest, even excitement, as the teachers probed the matter of what makes our economic system function or malfunction and how a true picture of the why and how of this system can best be presented at the intermediate and secondary school levels.

But the Workshop planners wisely took into consideration the maxim about "all work and no play" and set up a well-rounded recreational program for the participants.

A permanent workshop staff of 15 members and some 25 visiting experts representing the facts and opinions of the several segments of the American economy helped the participating teachers leave the campus with a new understanding and appreciation of the economic facts of life. They left, too, with more than just vague expectations of passing on to others that understanding and appreciation. They took back to their schools and communities well-drawn plans which will give meaning to the objectives of the workshop.

The stated objectives of the workshop were: (1) to develop an awareness of problems of economic significance; (2) to gain information for the solution of economic problems which will help develop ways of thinking and acting; (3) to formulate methods of incorporating an economic understanding into the curriculum and preparation of materials suitable for classroom use; (4) to develop leadership in economic education for local workshops and projects.

FRED LAZARUS, JR., president of Federated Department Stores, told teachers to keep "the fundamentals of freedom" in mind

These objectives were reached through a crowded three weeks of lectures, movies, field trips, discussions, question-and-answer periods, and independent reading. They were achieved through downright diligence on the part of small work groups who, aided by staff counselors, tackled a variety of problems relative to curricula, including the content of a high school economics course, and the integration of economic material into American and world history courses and other courses in social studies.

The speakers who represented various economic points of view ran the full range from NAM to CIO. But the workshopers agreed virtually unanimously that the presentation of economic issues and data was "objective."

Said Prof. James D. Calderwood, staff member from Ohio State University: "Looking at the workshop program in an overall way from an economist's viewpoint, one of its most striking features was the excellent balance and degree of comprehensiveness achieved in the choice of subject matter. Representatives of small and large business, organized labor, agriculture, and state and federal government agencies were on the program as well as university economists. All points of view were presented to the workshop participants, and an important part of the learning process consisted of comparing and contrasting interpretations of economic problems as presented by speakers with different interests."

UAW-CIO's WILLIAM KIRCHER, '36, makes a point in discussion with Leo Teplow, associate director of NAM's Industrial Relations Division (second from left); Dr. Harold Sylvester, professor of personnel management, University of Maryland; Deon George J. Kabot of the College of Education; and (standing) Prof. F. H. McKelvey, co-director of the workshop

An example: The opening dinner featured speakers from the United States Steel Corporation, the CIO, and the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

The prefactory statement of the program pointed up the need for economic education with this: "... Many of the most critical problems in the world today, upon which the issues of war and peace and democratic survival seem to hinge, are economic in nature. . . . Teachers are responsible for helping pupils to develop understanding of our economic order—its nature, problems, and potentialities. To do the job, teachers need to understand current economic issues. They must be prepared to deal with economic problems, to interpret economic data, and to develop and use appropriate teaching materials."

Most afternoons of the workshop were given over to the meetings of the small groups—working committees — which, under the guidance of curriculum and economic consultants, probed the ways and means of bringing economic education into the high school teacher's classes. Organized on the basis of mutual primary interests, these several groups each summarized their accomplishments after three weeks. Copies of each of the group reports were given to all participants, thus each participant was the beneficiary of the total thinking.

The school teachers came up with specific and comprehensive contributions toward the improvement of economic education in the schools. They evaluated existing economics courses and their content and made suggestions for improvement. They reexamined the history of the United States and developed a teacher's guide chart which contained the economic understandings that could be provided for students of American history. Teaching guides or resource files were developed for teaching labor-management, conservation, inflation, and world trade. Within these files was a reservoir of suggested learning activities, reading materials, films, testing instruments, and techniques for aiding students to act on their conclusions.

Audio-visual materials in teaching economics was the prime interest of one group. Another investigated the manner and importance of evaluation and suggested criteria for measuring the effectiveness of economic education in a school.

The Ohio Workshop on Economic Education was sponsored by the College of Education and the Department of Economics, with the cooperation of the Joint Council on Economic Education. Co-directors of the Workshop were Prof. F. H. McKelvey of Education and Dr. E. T. Hellebrandt of Economics. Participation in the workshop cost the enrollees nothing. Their entire expenses were defrayed through the contributions of business, labor, and agriculture organizations, as well as individuals. One of some 25 in the nation, the Ohio University Workshop is among the pioneers in the economic education movement which was begun in 1948 when the Committee for Economic Development (a non-profit organization of businessmen and scholars) assisted New York University in sponsoring a national workshop in economic education.

The participants considered the experience so valuable that they formed an independent organization of educators and laymen, the Joint Council on Economic Education, to establish similar projects throughout the country. Besides the workshops, the JCEE helps to establish and service community seminars, institutes, and in-service teacher training programs initiated in their own school systems by workshop participants. The national council works with regional, state, and local councils formed by school and community leaders to develop and coordinate continuing economic education projects resulting from the workshops. It also encourages inclusion of more economic education in teacher-training institutions, as well as in high schools; it helps to obtain competent consultants for local projects and technical assistance for development of effective materials for school use, and it conducts conferences and acts as a clearing house for the exchange of ideas and materials.

The JCEE is governed by a board of trustees elected from the teaching profession and business, labor, and research organizations. The JCEE's work has been recognized by the Ford Foundation and has received a grant from the foundation's Fund for Adult Education.

Dr. Derwood Baker, JCEE director, was a member of the Ohio Workshop staff.

The idea of the Ohio Workshop to be conducted by Ohio University was born in the summer of 1951 when President Baker and Dean George J. Kabat of the College of Education conferred in New York with Dr. Baker. In the months following that conference, Dean Kabat, coordinator of the Ohio Workshop, President Baker, and C. Don McVay, '15, a University trustee and adviser to workshop, traveled some 13,000 miles to stimulate interest in the workshop. They talked with representatives of business, labor, and agriculture. They found a wholesome appreciation of their idea in most instances—and financial support from 67 sponsors, who contributed a total of almost $20,000.

The greatest part of this money was spent to defray the cost of the 1952 workshop. But enough remained to employ a person (not yet named) to carry out the important "follow up" program, necessary to assure maximum results from the workshop itself, and to begin planning for the Second Ohio Work-

(Continued on Page 10)

SPEAKERS AT THE BANQUET which opened the workshop (as record-breaking summer temperatures made shirtsleeves proper) were (left to right) D. R. Stanfield, vice president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation; Jacob Cloyman, secretary-treasurer of Ohio Council, CIO, President Baker; Dean Kabat, workshop coordinator; Harvey Jordan, president of American Steel and Wire (since workshop, named Ohio University trustee); Dr. Derwood Baker, director of the Joint Council on Economic Education

FIELD TRIP DAY provided the economics workshop participants a firsthand picture of a component of the American economy in action. Dividing into four groups, they were the all-day guests of either the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company at the company's new Poston Station, near Athens; The McBee Company, Athens; the duPont works at Parkersburg, W. Va., or the B. F. Goodrich Plastic Products plant at Marietta.

Guided tours were provided through these installations. The workshop people were luncheon guests of the companies, and then participated in a discussion period with officials of the four organizations.

MOVIES was another media employed to further the participants economic education. Approximately 20 movies concerning such subject as foreign trade, capitalism, taxation, socialism, stock market operations, the Federal reserve System, business organization, and consumer protection were viewed during the three weeks of the workshop.

The films served not only an educational function for the participants, but also were of value as demonstrations of the classroom use of movies.

STAFF OF THE OHIO WORKSHOP ON ECONOMIC EDUCATION

- | | |
|---------------------------|--|
| C. Don McVay, '15 | Adviser to Workshop, Trustee, Ohio University |
| John C. Baker | President, Ohio University |
| Dr. George J. Kabat | Coordinator, Dean of the College of Education |
| Dr. Derwood Baker | Director, Joint Council on Economic Education |
| Prof. F. H. McKelvey | Co-Director of the Workshop, Director, Center for Educational Service, Ohio University |
| Prof. E. T. Hellebrandt | Co-Director of the Workshop, Professor of Economics, Ohio University |
| Prof. George Fersh | Consultant, New York State Teachers College, Economics Consultant, Ohio State University |
| Prof. James D. Calderwood | Consultant, Associate Professor of Economics, Ohio University |
| Prof. Fred Picard | Consultant, Assistant Director, Center for Educational Service, Ohio University |
| Prof. Gilford Crowell | Consultant, Assistant Professor of Education, Ohio University |
| Prof. E. P. Lynn | Secretary |
| Bertha Armbruster | Workshop Assistant |
| Alice Stone | Workshop Assistant |
| Andrew Johnston | |
| Bert Stone, '52 | |

. . . COLUMBUS AND SOUTHERN OHIO ELECTRIC CO. POSTON STATION

. . . THE McBEE COMPANY, ATHENS

. . . GOODRICH PLASTIC PRODUCTS, MARIETTA

. . . DUPONT WORKS PARKERSBURG

'out-of-context' quotes from some of the half-

C. DON McVAY, '15, University trustee, served as adviser to the Workshop on Economic Education

Only by understanding through such things as this workshop are we able to build on the good things we have inherited. . . .

Through the workshop we have helped to develop understanding and decrease the threat of chaos which exists in the nation and the world. . . .

We all have the right to live but also the responsibility to let live. . . .

The idea behind the Workshop on Economic Education is important not only to us as individuals but also to the future welfare of the greatest nation that ever existed. . . .

Dr. John C. Baker, president of Ohio University, from address: "The Significance of Economic Education in Our Schools"

What we have in America is something really to be proud of and not to be taken lightly. . . .

When we make a commitment, we have to ascertain the effects of it on freedom as well as its money value. In the federal government today there is no balance sheet of that kind. . . .

When you (the participating teachers) go home and do the job of teaching economic facts keep in mind the fundamentals of freedom that have made America great. We've gone a long way toward giving them up. . . .

The thinking of the people determines what kind of a country we have, and there is danger if we don't think. . . .

Federated Department Stores economists believe the price level will be down 5 percent by 1960. . . . (Mr. Lazarus recognized the hazards involved and termed the prediction "a guess.")

Wage controls are useless. . . . Patterns have become floor rather than ceiling. . . .

I believe profit motive most important factor in any economic system. . . .

Fred Lazarus, Jr., president, Federated Department Stores; from address: "National Security and Individual Freedom"

The schools are the property of all; they can't serve the partisan viewpoint of any special group. . . .

Schools cannot make educational policy; they can only make a favorable atmosphere. . . .

Schools operate in an atmosphere of conflicting views; the ultra-conservative, whose dominant fear is that every economic or social development is leading to socialism; the ultra-liberal, which fears another depression. . . .

Teachers must (1) identify critical problems of our economy, (2) learn how to break problem down into parts and state it, (3) learn to collect and evaluate data on problem, (4) develop skills in formulating alternate paths of action, and (5) leave pupils free to make choice and to feel that responsibility is on the individual. . . .

Dr. Derwood Baker, director of Joint Council on Economic Education from address: "Objectivity: the Key to Understanding"

The owner-control of American industries has moved from Wall Street to Main Street. . . .

Apathy in the field of economics and in the field of government is frequently worse than opposition. From opposition may come critical reevaluation, always essential in a growing and changing world, but in apathy we have only the manifestation of a spoiled child. . . .

The stake of American Business is high in Economic Education—the stake of America is even higher. . . . What you are doing here might well be a major part in our economic salvation.

Harvey Jordan, president of American Steel and Wire; from address: "The Stake of Business in Economic Education"

For many . . . the high school classroom will be the last chance to receive some kind of formal education in the field of economics. And when I talk of economics I do not mean "loaded" economics. I do not mean propaganda. I do not mean priority given any group or institution, whether it be labor or management. . . .

I have no fears about exposing our children to the facts of life. I have faith that high school youngsters can stand up to the economic truth, if they get it.

. . . I am confident that an intelligent teacher can present all facets of a problem to the student so that he may be guided in his search for the facts. . . .

I am afraid that the ordinary member of the public is getting a completely distorted picture of American Unionism. . . .

American Unions are here. . . . They have an impact upon the life of our nation. . . . Students should be exposed to the genuine picture of American Unions, as they are presented with facts concerning American business and industry. . . .

Jacob Clayman, secretary-treasurer of Ohio Council, CIO; from address: "Labor's Interest in Economic Education"

For 100 years, 1840-1940, the farmer was the bottom man on the economic totem pole. This is not easily forgotten.

In spite of increased production, the farmers' net income has decreased 12 percent since 1947, while non-farm income has increased 39 percent. . . .

The farmer's greatest need today is an understanding of his position by his urban customers. . . .

Ohio farms are predominantly of the family type. In a corporate age, this has resulted in the development of farmer cooperatives. This was necessary if the family type farm was to survive. The farmer could not long continue to buy at retail and sell at wholesale. . . .

Cooperatives have come to be a very important part of our private enterprise system. . . . They have been the means of substantially increasing farm income and improving rural standards of living. . . .

The reluctance of many of our banking institutions to give farmers financial assistance . . . creates a problem. As a result, the Federal Land Banks, Production Credit, and Farmers Home Administration came to the farmers' rescue. Farmers who have been saved from bankruptcy by these agencies are not likely to forget it. . . .

The farmer has often found himself in a depression when the other parts of our economy were enjoying relative prosperity. This lends support to the idea that depressions are farm led and farm fed. . . .

As teachers, you stand in a unique position to appraise, analyze, and understand the economic problems of our time. Your profession has a great responsibility to see that conditions exist in our educational institutions whereby our young men and women are given opportunity to constructively cope with the problems that will effect their future and that of their country. . . .

hundred workshop talks

D. R. Stanfield, vice president of Ohio Farm Bureau Federation; from address: "Agriculture's Concern in Economic Education"

Many of the problems of this world arise . . . out of a lack of understanding of the other fellow's point of view. . . . In my 22 years of experience (and I think it is typical) there has been and seems to be too little opportunity to associate with members of the teaching profession and exchange views on the problems we face. . . .

There is nothing impersonal about a business just because it may take the legal form of a corporation. Nearly all businesses start with one or more individuals who usually risk all they have to get going. What the business does or doesn't do from its very beginning is a direct reflection of the actions, judgment, and emotions of these very human individuals who run the business. . . .

The United States could never have become the great industrial nation it is today, nor could it have produced the weapons to win World War II, if it had labored for many years under a tax system like that now operated by the administration. . . .

SPEAKERS AND DISCUSSION LEADERS IN THE WORKSHOP ON ECONOMIC EDUCATION: Dr. John C. Baker, president, Ohio University; Dr. Derwood Baker, director, Joint Council on Economic Education; Dr. George J. Kabat, dean of the College of Education; Fred Lazarus, Jr., president Federated Department Stores; Harvey Jordan, president, American Steel and Wire division of U. S. Steel; Jacob Clayman, secretary-treasurer, Ohio Council, CIO; D. R. Stanfield, vice president, Ohio Farm Bureau Federation; Harry M. Miller, vice president, Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co.; Orville Jones education director, Ohio Council CIO.

William Kircher, '36, administrative assistant to the vice president, UAW-CIO; Leo Teplow, associate director, Industrial Relations Division, National Association of Manufacturers; B. F. Cutler, vice president and treasurer, The McBee Company; Samuel M. Cohn, fiscal analyst, Office of Budget Review, Bureau of the Budget; John W. Sims, executive secretary, Ohio Farm Bureau Federation; William Papier, director, Division of Research and Statistics, Ohio State Employment service; H. C. Atkinson, executive vice president of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce.

Susan Burr, assistant director, division of Research and Statistics, Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System; Wilson Wright, economist; Practer and Gamble; L. Merle Hosteller, manager, Research Department, Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland; Ernst A. Dauer, economist, Household Finance Corporation; Dr. George Fersh of New York State Teachers College; Dr. Carl Bye of Syracuse University; Dr. James Calderwood and Dr. J. I. Falconer of Ohio State University; Prof. Ben W. Lewis, of Oberlin College.

Professors F. H. McKelvey, Fred Picard, E. T. Hellebrandt, and David Levinson, all of Ohio University.

B. F. Cutler, vice president and treasurer, The McBee Co.; from address: "What Are the Needs and Problems of Small Business?"

The shift to a nation of employees has created an internal conflict in our democratic society to which collective bargaining makes a partial answer. . . .

We believe that collective bargaining is a partial answer to the preservation of democracy—that it breaks the hierarchal pyramid (of the business structure) into two groups who deal with each other on voluntary contractual terms. . . .

Collective bargaining has come to be the accepted American way. Most business is done on the basis of voluntary contracts, either written or implied, and collective bargaining simply extends to the employer-employee relationship the basic principle of voluntary contracts. . . .

The productive capacity of our mass production economy means that the standard of living can be steadily increased and poverty eliminated. . . .

Many employers have told me that they would not want to operate their plants without a labor union and an established grievance procedure because it means peaceful relations and increased productivity. . . .

Orville C. Jones, education director, Ohio Council, CIO; from address: "What Is the Role of Organized Labor in Our Economy?"

Compulsory unionism, violence, coercion, industry-wide bargaining, and government intervention must be eliminated if free collective bargaining is to survive. . . .

When national bargaining breaks down the entire country is deprived of goods or service of an industry. . . .

Individual freedom is violated when employee is forced to join a union. . . . It was wrong for employers to refuse to hire a worker who belonged to a union or fire him for joining, and it was rightfully outlawed. . . .

Government should (only) impartially administer laws of collective bargaining and make available competent, impartial conciliators. . . .

Mass picketing is mob usurpation of power. . . .

On both sides (management and labor) you have antagonists that are more interested in winning a victory than solving a problem. . . .

Leo Teplow, associate director of Industrial Relations Division, NAM; from address: "What Are the Problems in Collective Bargaining?"

Organized labor includes all unions; so the evil of one is often listed as typical or characteristic of all unions. . . .

In our union we have a principle that says our bargains must serve entire community. . . . Labor's fight for free public schools brought same condemnation as today's fight for retirement funds, health and welfare benefits. . . . Maybe 25 years from now those objectives will be taken for granted as are proved social goods such as safety laws and child-labor laws. . . .

One of labor's problems is to get the general public to accept collective bargaining as a real force for social good and progress. . . .

Brotherhood of man under fatherhood of God is a principle without which no peace or progress is possible. . . . The school, the church, and the labor movement are leaders in the furthering of this principle. . . .

I like the idea of the community sticking its nose into our (union's) affairs. . . .

The more we can develop factual intelligence and understanding, the more will obligations on the bargaining parties be impressed. . . .

William Kircher, '36, administrative assistant to vice president, United Automobile Workers, CIO; from address: "What Are the Problems in Collective Bargaining?"

The countervailing forces in our economy must be maintained if free enterprise is to function. . . . A (federal) Republican administration would have to maintain a similar attitude toward labor unions, farm cooperatives, and other countervailing forces. . . . The difference between a new federal government administration and the present one would be in degree. . . .

Samuel M. Cohn, fiscal analyst, Bureau of the Budget; from address: "How Large Is the Business Sector of Our Economy?"

Here (in the field of economics) there is a fear of the unknown, a despair over the professional jargon, and a resultant resignation to 'experts' and prayer that all will somehow turn out all right or, if it doesn't, then we can at least know who is to blame. It is not my purpose to belittle experts, for we do need and we do have men of special capacities and interests to advise, but what I decry is the tendency on the part of most of us to divorce ourselves from the responsibility of decision making, and thus either not lend our potential wisdom to the experts or, what is worse and more common, to lose by default to self interested pressure groups who do associate themselves with decision-making. . . .

Prof. George Fersh, of New York State Teachers College, from address: "Purposes of the Workshop, Curriculum Developments in Economic Education"

1952 WORKSHOP ON ECONOMIC EDUCATION PARTICIPANTS: Ruth Ackerson, Springfield; Elizabeth Anderson, '52, (June, 1952, Graduate, Ohio University); Edwin W. Bash, '14, Lorain; Cara Lee Beam, Dayton; Russell A. Bender, New Philadelphia; Morton B. Biel, Cleveland; Carroll W. Biggs, Sunbury; Carlton J. Binkley, Blanchester; Herman D. Bishop, '14, Mansfield; Rebecca Blackstone, '34, Upper Arlington; Stanley C. Boylan, Lima; Loren H. Briggs, Utica-Washington; Ruth Burlington, Portsmouth; Don Campbell, '20, state representative from Athens County; Louis Cellini, Crestline.

Isabel Clouse, East Liverpool; Donald W. Coddington, Conneaut; John C. Carwin, Painesville; Daryl R. Daniel, '48, '51, Dover; Andrew Davis, '50, Logan; W. G. Davis, Caucey-Dover; Shirley R. Drake, prospective teacher in Ohio; Merida M. Duffy, Cleveland; Richard E. Eberts, New Straitsville; William G. Ellis, Steubenville; Margaret J. Felsing, faculty appointee, Ohio University; Anne M. Fenske, Dayton; Ruth E. Fitt, Springfield; Florence N. Foust, Ashland.

Joseph W. Gamertsfelder, '35, Coshocton, Irene S. Gath, Hamilton; K. E. Goodman, Cleveland; Helen M. Gramentine, Akron; J. Richard Gratz, McGuffey; Joe Hertzfeld, Swanton; Jay W. Halmes, Dayton; Thelma M. Howey, Toledo; Phila Humphreys, State Department of Education; William Keylor, Wheeling; Rothbe H. Kirkendall, '40, Jackson; Mary Krausz, '36, Portsmouth; Dorothy Krautwater, Springfield; Ellsworth A. Kuehn, Dayton; Gladys Leatherman, Springfield; Jeannette E. Long, Cincinnati; Gertrude Lynn, Warren.

Doris A. Lytle, '42, graduate student, Ohio University; Esther Manns, Youngstown; Alice B. Mill, Zanesville; Edmund C. Mize, Cleveland; Sherman P. Moist, Delaware; Norman E. Marrell, Akron; R. D. Mosier, Uniontown, Pa.; Ann E. Murphy, Toledo; Lloyd E. Narragon, Medina; James O. Niswonger, Dayton; Nelle M. Oesterle, Walnut; E. LeVerne Parks, Norwalk; Arvella Payne, Central State College; Rex M. Percelle, '27, Pleasantville; Stephen Polinsky, Bellaire; Mahlon A. Povenmire, Lakewood; Anna Quattrochi, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Lucille Smith, '31, Middleport; Hazel Spyker, Miami University; E. J. Steele, '22, Hamilton; Mae Stephens, Kendallville, Ind.; Joseph J. Stone, '33, Murray City; Ralph Storts, '34, Zanesville; Isabel Strickling, St. Marys, W. Va.; Herbert L. Thomas, Cleveland; Josephine Trachte, Galion; Lawrence L. Vander, Toledo; Leonard A. Vitcha, Cleveland; Samuel A. Wagner, Bryan; Grant W. Walls, Norwalk; Theodore B. Walter, Oberlin; Evelyn G. Weston, Kent State University; Carl P. Williams, '31, Fairport Harbor; John L. Wilson, Hamilton County; Margaret C. Wright, Dayton.

WHAT PARTICIPANTS SAID ABOUT THE WORKSHOP

"The workshop has been a wonderful learning experience for me. I am impressed by the organization and procedure. The staff and consultants are to be congratulated for their unusual leadership. This method is a good way to further education in our most vital problem in America."

"The workshop has provided the stimulus to read and study more and more in the field of economics and about the place held there by labor, management, and government."

"My concept of economics has been refreshed, my knowledge increased, and my viewpoint broadened. All of which I know will be reflected in my future teaching and in organization of work in our social studies department."

"As I note the names of the manufacturers, businesses, and other organizations who contributed toward the success of this workshop,

I am sure that they are moving toward a real and closer understanding of each others' problems. I am proud to have taken a part in this important step in this state."

"The efforts made to meet the need of the widely varying backgrounds of the participants are certainly commendable. This welding of backgrounds to an understanding of the issues of management, government, and labor relations as they apply to economics is a tremendous step in the right direction."

"The cultural atmosphere which prevailed throughout the entire session was outstanding. As to the value of the workshop—itsself, it is a new experience where definite facts were presented by able leaders and where differences were aired in a friendly manner."

"The cultural atmosphere which prevailed throughout the entire session was outstanding. As to the value of the workshop—itsself, it is a new experience where definite facts were presented by able leaders and where differences were aired in a friendly manner."

"Participation in the workshop has been a most satisfactory experience. In addition to benefits derived from our orientation to economic principles and our experience in curriculum development, association with teachers from all sections of the state has been a worthwhile experience. Teachers in industrial areas and teachers in agricultural communities have exchanged experiences and have come to understand the problems and tensions of each area. Of particular significance has been our contact with the erudite and genial faculty. Their untiring efforts to create a friendly atmosphere in which to carry on the activities of the workshop have made us very proud of Ohio University."

WHAT GUESTS AND SPEAKERS SAID ABOUT THE WORKSHOP

"I certainly enjoyed being with you and your group on the two occasions at Ohio University and again want to assure you that we will render every assistance we can to the furtherance of the Workshop program. It is heartening to know there are yet those who desire to maintain and preserve the system which has meant so much to our individual and collective well-being."

Harry M. Miller, vice president, Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co.

"We want to do everything we possibly can to assist you in the fine job you are doing. I don't know of any project more important than to try and get our educational leaders to understand and teach the fundamental facts about economics."

D. R. Stanfield, vice president—legislation, Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, Inc.

"It was a rare pleasure to be able to share a day of your very fine Workshop. I enjoyed myself very thoroughly and was very well impressed with the obvious independence of thought on the part of the group that you had at the Workshop. Your Workshop is performing a vitally needed service and you have my very best wishes for its continued progress and improvement."

Dr. Leo Teplow, Industrial Relations Division, National Association of Manufacturers

"We believe that the program of the Workshop was most important and one that had been too long overlooked in our educational system. I hope that you will retain, as time goes on, the very fine interest that you have now in furthering Economic Education in our high schools where you will be able to reach so many more students than can possibly be reached in our colleges and universities."

D. K. Chase, assistant-to-vice-president, The Pennsylvania Railroad, Central Region

"CED is mighty fortunate to have such an excellent program at Ohio University, and I am confident that you will be very successful."

Fred Lazarus, Jr., president, Federated Department Stores, Inc.

"I am quite happy about the outcome of the Institute. I feel that it was as objective as it is possible for human beings of diverse interests to make it. The group definitely did its own thinking."

Orville C. Jones, director of education, Ohio CIO Council

"We were pleased with what we saw and heard and believe that the participants will gain a new and fresh viewpoint from the standpoint of applied economics."

Jacob Clayman, secretary-treasurer, Ohio CIO Council

"I wish to say that I was very much impressed with the series of the talks and forums I listened to on the Monday that I attended, and also impressed by the agenda of the courses you had outlined."

A. G. Spieker, The Henry J. Spieker Company

"My visit to the Ohio Workshop on Economic Education was a very pleasing experience which I enjoyed more than I can say. Never before have I addressed a group so large and had the feeling that all of them were keeping with me every inch of the way. The attitudes and enthusiasm of the workshopppers and the faculty members were most encouraging, and I think promise great success for the program in Ohio."

Samuel M. Cohn, Executive Office of the President, Bureau of the Budget

"I want to thank you very much for the pleasant reception I had at Ohio University at the Workshop on Economic Education. There is no question in my mind about the worth of the project and I was particularly impressed with the serious hard-work atmosphere, which must be a reflection of the work that you and your assistants have put in. I shall look back on the visit with real pleasure."

R. H. Collacott, Sales Research, The Standard Oil Company

AMERICAN ECONOMY

(Continued from Page 6)

shop in Economic Education to be held early in the summer of 1953.

Eighty-two teachers, principals, and superintendents attended the workshop full time, and fourteen others in those classifications spent from one to six days on the campus attending the workshop sessions.

Thirty-five contributors to the financing of the workshop, or their representatives, spent from one to four days as observers and also participated in group discussions that followed the presentation of particular economic topics.

Dean Kabat termed this "extremely helpful to the success of the workshop."

The dean said work will be immediately started on planning the Second Ohio Workshop on Economic Education for the summer of 1953.

On and About the Green . . .

Workshops Set Record

The University's "special events" for the Summer Session of 1952, made up of workshops, conferences, clinics, special classes and projects, took on a special significance as both the offerings in this kind of study and the number of enrollees well-exceeded all past records.

Besides the Ohio Workshop on Economic Education, some 18 other events helped bring to the campus between the middle of June and the last of August approximately 1000 enrollees in addition to the students in the regular summer classes, which this past summer numbered 850, the lowest figure since World War II.

In terms of numbers enrolled, the program was paced by the School of Journalism Workshop for High School Publications and the School of Music's Clinic-Workshop for High School Students. Journalism had 310 enrollees from 87 different high schools, double its highest previous figure. Music enrolled 182 students and 33 teachers from 69 high schools in 13 different states, topping all its previous records.

Newcomers to the workshop field included projects in opera, high school radio, high school debate, and industrial arts. All the new offerings were well received, indicating their continuance, while established projects all reported increased enrollments.

The complete "special events" program, in addition to those mentioned: Conference on Elementary Education; Workshop in School Lunch Management; Ohio Valley Summer Theater (second season); Conference on School Administration; School Textbook Exhibit; Conference on Current Problems and World Affairs; Travel Workshop (French language) in France; Special Painting Classes (featuring noted visiting artists); Workshop in Elementary School Music; Workshop in Photography; Training Course in Driver Education; Conference in Industrial Arts Education.

Industrial HR Expanded

Courses and instructors are being added as the University's program of instruction in human relations for industry begins its third year.

Now serving the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Timken Roller Bearing Co., the program plans increased enrollments in all its present teaching centers and the new centers being set up.

Courses in human relations for executive and supervisory employees of the Pennsylvania Railroad will be given this and Canton. To date, nearly 500 of the railroad's eligible personnel, including W. H. Mapp, Columbus Division superintendent, have participated in the program, with classes having been conducted in Columbus, Crestline, Akron, Cincinnati, Zanesville, and Youngstown.

The Timken Roller Bearing Co. came into the program in January of this year. Some four months later, 43 of its top officials, headed by President William E. Umstätt, received their certificates of completion. All but three of the initial Timken group, which included, besides President Umstätt, four of the company's vice presidents and its plant managers throughout the state, came to the campus for the "graduation" program.

Speaking at the Lindley Hall banquet which capped the affair were President Baker, Mr. Umstätt, Dr. Gaige Paulsen, professor of psychology, who was the group's instructor, and Prof. A. C. Gubitz, director of off-campus relations and director of the industry human relations program.

Mr. Gubitz has announced that the Timken program is anticipating instruction in the human relations courses for some 1200 of its executive and supervisory personnel. Twenty-four classes in Canton and Columbus have been scheduled for the company for the coming year.

Among the instructors in the industry human relations program this year will be F. Patrick Collins, '50, assistant to the director of off-campus relations. Mr. Col-year in Wellsville, Dennison, Cleveland, Lima will conduct courses in Wellsville, Dennison, and Cleveland.

Serving full-time in the program and teaching courses for the Timken company in Canton will be Edward F. Shaffer, instructor in psychology. Other faculty members participating in this year's program are Dr. Paulsen and Dr. A. C. Anderson, professor of psychology.

The courses cover a 15-week period, with one meeting of one-and-a-half hours held each week. Individual discussions, between the teacher and the student precede the lecture.

No public money is spent for the industry human relations program. All its expenses are paid by the participating companies.

New Trustee Named

Harvey B. Jordan, president of the American Steel and Wire Co., a division of United States Steel, has been appointed to the University's Board of Trustees by Governor Lausche. The appointment is for seven years, expiring May 14, 1959.

A native of Michigan, Mr. Jordan has been president of American Steel and Wire since 1950. He has been associated with the company, the country's largest producer of nails, alloy wires, fence, springs and spring wire, and other specialty products, in many capacities. His start at the shovel end of the business 35 years earlier terminated in his becoming president at the age of 54.

A resident of Cleveland, he recently

THE YEARBOOKS DIVISION of Journalism's Workshop for High School Publications used the art classrooms for its 1952 record crowd. Shown in the picture are Ira Soyre [left foreground] of East Liverpool, nationally-recognized high school publications adviser, and [rear center] Charles L. Smith, assistant professor of design.

TRUSTEE JORDAN

participated in the Ohio Workshop on Economic Education.

Mr. Jordan attended Pennsylvania State College from 1913 until 1915 and in 1929 received his law degree from Marshall in Cleveland.

Memorial For Educator

Oliver L. Wood, '26, was a schoolman respected for his integrity, honored for his ability, and loved by his thousands of former students and other friends for the friendliness, self-effacement, and helpfulness that lifted him and his job out of the routine and made both a memorable effort. Those thousands are determined to perpetuate the memory of Mr. Wood, who died February 1, 1952.

In just a few months, two scholarships bearing Mr. Wood's name have been set up at the University. The second came recently when the Oliver L. Wood Scholarship Committee authorized payment of $1750 to the Ohio University Fund. This money will return annually $105, the registration fee for two semesters, and will be awarded to an Athens High School graduate who will enter Ohio University.

A like amount, contributed by Mr. Wood's heirs, was presented to the Fund earlier in the summer.

The second grant was made possible by Athens High School alumni and Athens citizens. Funds for a third scholarship, said the committee, are coming from these last-named two groups as well as from friends in all parts of the state.

Persons interested in participating in the memorial to Mr. Wood should send their contributions to Charles A. Dalton, Box 582, Athens, committee treasurer, with checks and money orders payable to the Oliver L. Wood Scholarship Fund.

Enrollment Estimate Climbs

Enrollment predictions for the 1952-53 school year were given a last-minute upward revision a week before registration, with Registrar Robert E. Mahn setting the on-campus enrollment forecast at 3900 to 4000, an increase of 300 to 400 over an earlier estimate. Some 50 percent more freshmen are expected this year than were here in 1951.

(Deadline for October copy of the ALUMNUS pre-dates school opening by a week. Final enrollment figures will be given in November. Ed.)

Enrollment in the three Ohio University branches, Chillicothe, Zanesville, and Portsmouth, and in Extension Division courses will probably swell the total enrollment to around 4500.

Freshman week begins September 15, preceded by the weekend "Y" camp for new freshman men. Classes open September 22.

Some 100 freshmen enrolled for the second year of Freshman Camp sponsored by the YMCA and held at a camping area about 30 miles from the campus. An orientation period for new students, the camp features discussions and talks by administrative and teaching faculty and by student leaders on the campus.

WINNERS OF THE Henry Zenner Scholarship Awards are Richard Miller (left) and David Lewis

All Henry Zenner Scholarship applicants must be members of McBee families. Lewis is the son of Everett Lewis, a finishing room supervisor. Young Miller is the son of F. T. Miller, Tampa representative for McBee. Smith's father is tower guard at McBee's Plant No. 1.

Recently established in honor of the first president of The McBee Company, the Henry Zenner Scholarships provide tuition and fees, room and books for a four-year period at Ohio University.

Lewis is a 1951 graduate of Athens High School. He ranked sixth in a class of 115 and scored among the top 10 on a test of college ability. During his high school years he collected 18 medals and 11 letter awards for music competition and was active in numerous extracurricular activities. He will study electrical engineering.

Miller is a graduate of H. B. Plant High School, where he ranked in the top bracket in a graduating class of 216. He is a member of his school's honor society and was second in the 1951 Kearney Award for Best All-Around Student. He is also recognized as one of Florida's outstanding high school athletes. He will prepare for a sales career.

Zenner Scholarships Given

David E. Lewis of Athens, and Richard L. Miller of Tampa, Florida, are the first winners of The Henry Zenner Scholarships, Dr. George W. Starcher, '26, chairman of the Scholarships Committee and dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, has announced.

Russell D. Smith, Athens, was named first alternate and will be eligible for the awards in the event either candidate is unable to accept his scholarship.

KONRAD SCHOLL, '33, was among the visiting artists who helped the School of Music make its 1952 Clinic-Workshop outstanding. Alumnus Scholl is director of music in the Boone, Iowa, schools.

DR. NASROLLAH SAIFPOUR FATEMI, Princeton University professor once active in Iranian political affairs, was one of the speakers for the seventh annual Conference on World Affairs held on the campus in July. Dealing with The Middle East in World Affairs, the conference also featured Samuel K. C. Kopper, acting director of the Office of Near Eastern Affairs for the Department of State, Prof. Afife Sayin, of Marietta College, and Kamal Khan, Ohio University student

French Workshop Outlined

(By Ann Mumma, '29, MA '41, secretary to the College of Education and a member of this year's French Workshop group)

For the second summer, the Ohio University French Workshop proved its worth. Sponsored jointly by the Romance Language Department of the College of Arts and Sciences and the College of Education, and under the direction of the French Ministry of Education in Paris, the program for the eight-week session was carefully and generously outlined. It packed into every minute the greatest amount of instruction in, and acquaintance with, French language, history, and customs.

On the campus during the first few days, beginning June 20, the group was oriented into the program which was to follow by Dr. B. A. Renkenberger, '24, MA '31, chairman of the Romance Language Department, and leader of the group through the summer.

The personnel this summer consisted mostly of teachers of French, although there were some in other professions and some auditors. All 11 had studied French and were anxious not only to help perfect their language but to gain a better knowledge and understanding of the country and its people.

Embarking on the Georgic June 25, the group spent a very smooth and restful nine-day voyage. Two hours each morning were given over to French conversation and discussion, directed by Dr.

Renkenberger, "just to get in practice." Lounging on deck in the sun, lazily sipping bouillon at 11 and tea at 4 every day—how far away already seemed the cares of a work-a-day world!

During the first weekend in Paris we became somewhat adjusted to our new quarters at Ecole Normale, and got acquainted with the persons with whom we were to live and work for four weeks.

Instruction in two classes, French Language and History of the 19th Century, and French Conversation was begun on Monday morning. Classes were held from 9 until 11—or longer when interest ran especially high, and were conducted by Dr. Louis Defond, director of Ecole Normal d'Instituteurs, who also so wonderfully planned our trips. Dr. Emile Roger, and Dr. R. Collin. After noons and evenings were given over to especially planned tours and other events. In this way the group enjoyed many an awe-inspiring, never-to-be-forgotten hour.

To suggest a few—in Paris there were the French plays at the open air theatre and the Comédie Française; that lovely Sunday walk down the Champs Elyses and a far and breath-taking view from the Arc de Triomphe; the climb of 368 steps of a circular stairway to the top of beautiful Notre Dame Cathedral, evening walks along the lovely Seine River, the all-absorbing book-stalls along the quay, an interesting shipping tour at Le Printemps, with a cooling ice on the top floor overlooking the lovely galleries of the store while an orchestra softly played, the tour of the Palais de Justice and Conciergerie where the French Revolu-

(Continued on Page 23)

JUNE, 1952

SEPTEMBER, 1952

NEW STUDENT UNION makes 'phenomenal' progress, with completion seen by Fall of '53

The Faculty

PROFESSOR KRECKER

Dr. Krecker Retires

Dr. Frederick H. Krecker, professor of zoology and for many years head of the department, has retired.

A nationally-known scientist and teacher, Dr. Krecker came to Ohio University from Ohio State University in 1929. He has made numerous contributions to the field of animal ecology through his work at the Stone Biological Laboratory, Put-in-Bay, Ohio, where he served as assistant director for 16 years.

He has been active in national and state scientific societies, serving as president of the American Microscopical Society, president of the Ohio Academy of Science, editor of the Ohio Journal of Science, and was responsible for organizing the Ohio Junior Academy of Science.

For many years he has been a contributor to Biological Abstracts. He is the author of various research papers in his field and a book, General Zoology.

He is the father of Frederick M. Krecker, '40, and Elizabeth Krecker Baker, '45, MA '50.

Attends New York Meeting

Prof L. J. Hortin attended the second annual convention of the Association for Education in Journalism, Aug. 25 to 29, at Columbia University.

Mr. Hortin, director of the School of Journalism, also attended the meeting of the Association of Accredited Schools and Departments of Journalism. The Ohio University School of Journalism is one of the 40 accredited schools in the nation.

During the session, Mr. Hortin met with the Sigma Delta Chi advisers to discuss chapter problems and to make plans for the SDX annual convention.

Featured speakers of the session included Arthur Sulzberger, publisher of the New York Times; John Orr Young, co-founder of Young and Rubicam; Dr. Allen B. DuMont, president of DuMont Laboratories; William L. Laurence, Pulitzer Prize Winner of the New York Times; Erwin D. Canham, editor of the Christian Science Monitor.

Gets Case Study Grant

Dr. David Levinson, assistant professor of economics, was one of 50 college and university teachers awarded study grants at Case Institute of Technology for a six-weeks period in the past summer. Dr. Levinson participated in the program dealing with "Economics in Action."

Does Oak Ridge Research

Among some 60 university scientists at the Oak Ridge National Laboratory during the past summer was Dr. Charles A. Randall, Jr., assistant professor in the Department of Physics.

Having been doing research in gamma rays, Dr. Randall was assigned to the instrument development group at Oak Ridge, which was developing a multiple-channel gamma ray scintillation spectrometer with which more accurate measurements on radioactive isotopes can be made in vastly less time than with any other instrument heretofore built.

$1,000,000 Long Way Off

Dr. Harvey C. Lehman, professor of psychology and a member of the Ohio University faculty for 25 years, has been coming up regularly with studies dealing with the correlation of age and genius and age and leadership. The findings of his latest study were presented to the 1952 meeting of the American Psychological Association.

He pointed out that, among other things, your best chances of having an annual income of a million dollars or more will come when you are between 80 and 89 years old.

Dr. Lehman presented statistics to the annual meeting of the APA showing that in general, people who become big shots in politics, diplomacy, collegiate administration, military life, industry, commerce and the high courts of the land usually are at least 50 years old.

He also reported that a man's best years for producing creative work—like writing books, painting pictures, or doing big things in science—are usually in the thirties or early forties.

In the field of leadership in politics and other endeavors—as distinguished from men who are outstanding in creative fields—the psychologist gave these figures:

The most likely age to become president of the United States is anywhere from 50 to 54; ambassador, senator, or boss of the Army from 60 to 64; Supreme Court justice or speaker of the House of Representatives, 70 to 74; a college president, 50 to 54.

About those million dollar plus incomes:

Dr. Lehman failed to state the attributes of the folks who received them: all he said was that oldsters between 80 and 89—without necessarily working—are the folks who most usually receive them.

Kendalls Meet OU People

When Prof. Paul M. Kendall and Mrs. Kendall (Carol Seeger, '39) got to London at the beginning of Professor Kendall's year of special study, they sought out Lt. Com. R. H. Mereness and Mrs. Mereness (Kay Carnes, '41, MA '45). Lt. Com. Mereness is serving with the Military Sea Transportation Service (MSTS), and he took the accompanying picture of the Kendalls at MSTS offices.

Professor Kendall, associate professor of English, will spend a year in study at the British Museum and the Oxford College Library and in travel about England. He is one of 13 Ohio professors and one of 246 college and university teachers receiving fellowships from the Fund for the Advancement of Education, which was created by the Ford Foundation.

This year's $1,400,000 worth of grants is described by the Fund as part of its program to strengthen liberal education in United States colleges and universities.

PROF. AND MRS. KENDALL

'Shive' concludes official association with Ohio University, which he says is . . .

'As Much a Part of Me as My Name'

EARL C. SHIVELY, '21

Photo by Dave Curl, '54

OHIO UNIVERSITY will soon celebrate its Sesquicentennial. And as Alma Mater looks back 150 years, she can count thousands of friends whose faith and support have enabled her to bring to this history-making century-and-a-half mark an outstanding record of service and progress. She can today take her place of honor among great universities because many men and women through 150 years have loved her and believed in her and her mission.

None among those who have loved Ohio University has been more constant, few as constant as Earl Cranston Shively, '21.

Few men or women have as complete and as wholesome a concept of the relationship between a university and its alumni as does this alumnus and former trustee, who epitomizes his feeling toward his University with this:

"Ohio University is as much a part of me as my name."

(That name was given him to honor a man who was a distinguished graduate of Ohio University—Dr. Earl C. Cranston, '61, MA '66, LLD '96, a Methodist bishop.)

It isn't a sticky, maudlin stereotype, this feeling "Shive" has for his school. It's the end result of one student's experience some 40 years ago. It's gratitude for friendship given freely and unpatronizingly by many people who were part of Ohio University when 16-year-old Earl Shively, fresh out of McArthur high school, waited table and stoked furnaces to pay his way through school.

But this feeling is mostly an intangible that is beautiful because it is mysterious and indescribable. And if "Shive" finds difficulty in describing this feeling or the "atmosphere of Ohio University," an atmosphere that "permeates you, becomes a lifelong part of you," the difficulty makes those things no less real. Who can show the meaning of love, brotherhood, kindness, friendship and loyalty with words? And such are the things that constituted the lifelong permeating influence of Ohio University on Earl Shively, abstracts that defy verbal boundaries, indeed, lose their beauty and meaning if bound by words.

That old saw about actions speaking louder than words is overworked and, unfortunately, now sometimes meaningless. It should have been saved to describe "Shive's" love for Ohio University.

He has shown, both as an officer of the University and as an alumnus, that Ohio University's welfare is one of his major concerns, despite his having one of the state's most important law practices. He has served the University as a trustee for the past decade and a half, working hard at the job of being a trustee, a position he thinks of as being more a trust and an opportunity to serve than a personal achievement and honor. He concluded his official association with the University this year when after two consecutive terms he asked Governor Lausche, for personal reasons, that he not be considered for reappointment. He was twice chairman of the board and helped write its present by-laws.

To point out any one aspect of Trustee Shively's official association with the University might blur the picture of his total service. But his interest in the University library needs mentioning. In 1946 at the instigation of Mr. Shively, who loves books and who has a fine personal library, the faculty surveyed the books and periodical needs of the library and the librarian put these needs into a dollar figure. Trustee Shively, who was chairman of the Board of Trustee's Library Committee, took the request to the legislature and came away with virtually what he asked for—some $70,000, an unheard of appropriation solely for stocking the University's library shelves and tables.

Of Mr. Shively's service as a trustee, President John C. Baker said:

"Ohio University is a better and greater university today because of "Shive." His influence upon the institution he has served will not diminish when he relinquishes his official position. His loyal support served as an inspiration to other trustees, to faculty, to students, and to friends."

Even though he has severed official connections with his Alma Mater, working for Ohio University will still be a major activity for "Shive." One time president of the Columbus Chapter of the Association, he says that now he will have more time for alumni affairs. He is particularly interested in the field of scholarships.

Earl Shively began "working" for Ohio University 35 years ago when he sent her a couple of graduates from

(Continued on page 19)

The Bobcats

by Jack Gilbert, '52

'Wid' Preps for Opener

They sent their crying towels to Cincinnati.

They bundled up their good luck charms, rabbits feet and horseshoes and threw them into the Hocking River.

They even canceled their subscriptions to "Your Horoscope" and "What the Stars Hold for You."

Coach Carroll Widdoes and his assistants don't want them anymore. They are going to hustle the Bobcats into the 1952 gridiron scramble with nothing more advantageous than hard practice, spirit, the desire to win ball games, and a common and working knowledge of what to do with that elusive little object called a "pigskin."

Having cast aside the little helpers that most coaches feel are as necessary to win football games as a team itself, Widdoes and his staff may not revolutionize the sport, but the action may deter the lucky charm business.

Meanwhile, the head man of the Bobcats is hurriedly trying to find the best working combination to replace Al Scheider, Al Dunn, Demus Jones and John Bedosky, players that were the nucleus of the 1951 defensive line.

And what under normal conditions would be difficult is now almost impossible. With only 43 players reporting for early drills, Widdoes has to find replacements among the smallest squad he has coached since coming to OU in 1949.

The loss of Scheider, All-Conference tackle for three years, Dunn, Jones and Bedosky leaves both offensive and defensive tackle and offensive guard positions to be rebuilt.

And after reaching the halfway mark in pre-season practice, it looks like the personable coach's troubles are just beginning. (The Bobcat squad reported Labor Day, have completed two-a-day drills as of Sept. 12 and are now limited to an afternoon drill until the season opens.)

Defense is still the big question, and that coupled with minor—but aggravating—injuries to some of his key players prompts the Bobcat mentor to frankly admit "things could be better."

But looking at the Bobcats and their opponents on paper, the picture appears to be this: Either the one-time "Coach of the Year" will have his best season since coming to OU, or he will have his worst. There doesn't seem to be any inbetween.

In all departments—except the defense—there is improvement. The backfield, although slightly smaller than in the past, is faster and has more depth. Replacing Ed Roberts, who paced the backs last season in scoring with eight TD's and averaged 4.7 yards-per-try in 116 times carrying the ball, will be Charles Skipton, promising sophomore flash from Marietta, at left halfback. Don Eskey, 145-pound senior letter winner from Philo, has been outstanding in practice and will probably alternate the running chores with Skipton. Bill Haffner, junior letter winner from Dayton, looms as the most promising candidate as Skipton's running mate, while Charles "Bronco" Wilson will return to the fullback post. A speedy, hard charging back, Wilson is expected to turn in an outstanding performance this fall.

Calling the signals will be Bill Frederick, sophomore from Dayton, with relief support coming from Bill Casto and Larry Lawrence, a sophomore and Junior from Ripley, W. Va., and Whitehouse, Ohio, respectively. Both Frederick and Lawrence are top passers, while Frederick has an impressive record for picking up yardage.

The offensive line is all-veteran and the passing-receiving units are greatly improved. Starting at end positions will be Lou Sawchik of Cleveland and Frank Underwood of Steubenville. Sawchik is a rugged blocker as well as receiver; and Underwood is speedy, deceptive, and can catch the long ones. Filling the tackle slots are Vince Costello of Magnolia and Elmer Apel of Bellevue, with Tom Lee of Fremont and Leon Wilson of Parkersburg, W. Va., at the guard positions. Returning to the center post is Lowell "Duke" Anderson of Lockland, who is in line to grab No. 1 All-Conference honors this season.

While the Bobcats appear to have one of their strongest offensive units in recent years, Widdoes realizes that to offset defensive inexperience he will have to depend measurably on attack as the best defense. He confesses that success will rest on the whole with the Bobcats' ability to control the ball and limit the opponent's attack. In other words, take as much pressure off the defensive unit as possible and rely on the offensive running game.

To give balance to his team, however, Widdoes will probably have to depend considerably on double-duty players. He has already experimented with John Turk of Cleveland and Costello in the offensive and defensive lineup. Both boys worked strictly defense last year and were rated with the best in the Mid-

American Conference. But even with this change and similar ones, there is still the danger of injuries and lack of replacements.

Seven Bobcats are nursing ailments now, among them such key men as Fullback Wilson, Halfback Skipton and Bill Bevan, safety man and extra-point specialist. Skipton aggravated an old shoulder injury, and Wilson and Bevan are both suffering from leg injuries.

Charged with the responsibility of equaling the Bobcats' outstanding defensive record of 1951 and giving the team the necessary punch will be the same players that have been named to the offensive line, with the exception of Underwood, who will be replaced by Captain Bill Ellis, Cincinnati, at left end. In the secondary, Widdoes will rely on Tom Ascani, Canton; Nick Petroff, Canton; Chuck Bell, Huntington, W. Va.; Casto; Charles McBride, Columbiana; John Ohman, Middlebranch, and Sam Carpenter, Athens.

Basically the Bobcats running game will remain the same, using the "T" formation with minor variations. Widdoes, however, has added the "split T" to his offensive pattern, mainly to familiarize the Bobcats with it should they play teams that work from the split.

An indication of what the Bobcat grid fortunes will be in 1952 can be found in Francis Wallace's national football survey in Collier's magazine. The well-known first-guesser predicts a win 6, lose 3 season for the OU eleven.

OK, if you believe in prophesy. (We don't.) Let's see now, where did I put that crystal ball.

Ellis Leads Gridders

Bill Ellis, 180-pound senior from Cincinnati, is the captain of the 1952 Fighting Bobcats.

A graduate of Cincinnati Hughes High School, he was elected unanimously by his teammates at the annual football banquet following the 1951 season.

Bill, who holds three Bobcat letters, does his best work at the defensive end position and is slated for heavy action this fall.

Proving that brawn and brain can come from the same lad, Ellis is a 3.2 student and was listed among the highest 10 per cent of the junior class last year. He is a member of Gamma Gamma Gamma, Varsity O and Torch.

The 21-year-old commerce student is working toward a Bachelor of Science in Agriculture. He was married this summer to the former Lois Chapin of Norwalk, Ohio, a senior secretarial studies major.

Jay Vees Report

Approximately 65 candidates reported Monday, Sept. 15, to try out for Ohio

University's freshman football team, coached by Frank Richey and Bob Wren.

The number increased to 120 the following day. Policy is not to "cut" freshmen candidates.

Uniforms were issued the grid hopefuls the opening day with the initial practice scheduled Tuesday and continuing on a five-day-a-week basis.

The Bobkittens will play a five-game card, opening against Marshall College at Huntington, W. Va., on Oct. 24, and closing with Cincinnati at Athens, Nov. 14. Oct. 31, they will travel to Bowling Green to meet the junior Falcons and remain on the road to tackle Miami's Jay Vees, Nov. 7. Arrangements for a game with Ohio Wesleyan are not yet completed.

The 1951 Jay Vees compiled one of the school's most successful records, winning four games while losing only one.

Bobcats On Network

The Ashland Oil Co. of Ashland, Ky., will sponsor broadcasts of all Ohio University 1952 football games, it was announced recently by Marianne Campbell, station manager of WJEH in Gallipolis.

For the third consecutive year, WJEH has been named the key station for the networks. Three other Southeastern Ohio stations—WATH in Athens, WBEX in Chillicothe and WKOV in Wellston—are included in the Ashland chain, which is to be called the "Flying Octane Network."

All broadcasts will come direct from the Bobcats' games with personnel from the campus radio station, WOUH, doing the play-by-play. The initial broadcast will be made Sept. 27 at Charleston, W. Va., when the Bobcats clash with the Golden Eagles of Morris Harvey College. WOUH will serve as the "center" station.

Manager Campbell said that it is expected other stations will be added to the network and will be announced at a later date.

1952 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

- Sept. 27—Morris Harvey, at Charleston, W. Va.
 - Oct. 4—Toledo University, at Athens*
 - Oct. 11—Western Reserve, at Cleveland*
 - Oct. 18—Kent State, at Kent*
 - Oct. 25—Miami University, at Athens*
 - Nov. 1—Western Michigan, at Athens*
 - Nov. 8—University of Cincinnati, at Cincinnati*
 - Nov. 15—Bowling Green, at Bowling Green*
 - Nov. 22—Marshall, at Athens
- *—Mid-American Conference Game

CAPTAIN BILL ELLIS

SALUTE OF THE MONTH goes to two Athens men who have secured a patent on a mechanical device that promises to minimize injuries resulting from body contact in football practice sessions.

William F. Burke and Roger Connor, associated with The McBee Co., have materialized a two-year project into what they call a "Football Practice Apparatus."

The machine utilizes a series of blocking dummies suspended from trolleys which in turn are attached to a metal crossbar. Controlled by an electrical device, the dummies may be moved either to the left or right depending on the way the offensive man blocks, or thrown forward at a charging player.

Coach Widdoes served as advisor for the project, which developed when he approached the inventors two years ago in regard to strengthening a spring device which the Bobcat mentor had installed for team drills.

THE 1952 FIGHTING BOBCATS Front Row (left to right): Mgr. Cliff Houk, Troy; Joel Deckman, Malvern; Ted Jackson, Springfield; Bill Hogan, Gallipolis; Dick Spellmeyer, Mt. Healthy; Charles McBride, Columbiano; Ron Weaver, Cincinnati; Phil Giavosis, Canton; Bob Morch, Gallipolis; Dick Fleitz, Newark; Bill Bevan, Warren; and Don Stroup, Warren.
 Second Row: Coach Jim Snyder; Bill Haffner, Dayton; Charles Wilson, Marietta; Frank Underwood, Steubenville; Elmer Apel, Bellevue; Leon Wilson, Parkersburg, W. Va.; Lowell Anderson, Lockland; Tom Lee, Fremont; John Turk, Cleveland; Bill Ellis, Cincinnati; Chuck Skipton, Marietta; Bill Frederick, Dayton; Coach Carroll Widdoes, and Mgr. Mike Henry, Cambridge.
 Third Row: Coach Cliff Heffelfinger; Dick Phillips, Northampton, Pa.; Tom Ascani, Canton; Bill Scheider, Cleveland; Vince Costello, Magnolia; Bill Ron Foliano, Cleveland; Nick Petroff, Canton; John Schwob, Dayton; Stan Maschino, Dayton; Lou Sawchik, Cleveland; Don Eskey, Philo; Bill Costo, Ripley, W. Va.; Coach Frank Richey; Coach Bob Wren, and Team Physician Matyas Rella.
 Fourth Row: Team Physician Oscar I. Vik; Coach Kermit Blosser; John Ohman, Middlebranch; Clarence Tyo, Nelsonville; Nick Fagoras, Alliance; Sam Greiner, Columbiano; Art Aspengren, Watervliet, Mich.; Bill Mason, Warren; Bob Penrod, New Lexington; Dan Anderson, Sandysville, W. Va.; Gene Nuxhall, Hamilton; Lorry Lawrence, Whitehouse; Charles Bell, Huntington, W. Va.; Coach Ed Roberts, and Trainer Fred Schleicher.

Speaking of Alumni . . .

PROF. RIDENOUR

B-W Professor Retires

Prof. Harry Lee Ridenour, '12, a member of the English department of Baldwin Wallace College for 33 years and its head for 30 years, is spending the first year of his retirement preparing for publication his monumental collection of Ohio folk songs and ballads.

Professor Ridenour retired as head of the department three years ago, but had continued teaching until the end of the past school year.

A former president of the Ohio University Alumni Association (1929-30), the popular B-W professor is a member of a select group of less than 100 genuine ballad collectors in the United States. He and Mrs. Ridenour, who died in 1939, collected some 300 folk songs and he has since added to the collection. To Mrs. Ridenour, an accomplished musician, he credits the faithful recording of the songs, which, chances are, had never been transcribed before the Ridenours recorded them in some remote cabin or community.

Professor Ridenour, whose reputation has not been confined to Ohio, has lectured and presented his ballads extensively out-of-state. He was awarded the Association's Certificate of Merit in the field of musical research in 1943.

He is chairman of research in folk music of the Ohio Federation of Music Clubs, president of the Ohio Folklore Society, an honorary member of the Ohio Poetry Society and past chairman of the English section of the Ohio College Teachers Association.

Gets Kroger Promotion

Lawrence A. Flinn, '33, has been named merchandise manager of household products for The Kroger Co. with headquarters in Cincinnati.

Mr. Flinn, who has been associated with the retail food firm since his graduation, began as a grocery clerk in the Kroger Cleveland branch. He became advertising manager for the Cleveland branch the next year, and in 1940 was transferred to the general office sales department in Cincinnati.

On active duty with the Navy in the South Pacific from 1944 to 1946, he returned as manager of the company's sales planning department. He became merchandise manager of the specialty division in 1947. In his new position, Mr. Flinn will supervise buying and selling of household products for the retail food firm's 1933 stores in 19 states.

MR. FLINN

Alumna Named to Ad Job

Mrs. Ludel Boden Sauvageot, '27, public relations director of Peoples Hospital in Akron, has been appointed advertising manager for Reporting magazine, official publication of the International Council of Industrial Editors, Inc.

Mrs. Sauvageot has been one of the most active proponents of ICIE and was vice president of its East Central Area the past year. A charter member, she has been program chairman, vice president, and president of the Akron Area Business and Industrial Editors Association, and in 1949-50 she was its president.

One of the first women to graduate from the School of Journalism, she is believed to be the first to make journalism a career. She formerly was editor of the Antioch, Ill., News, a weekly publication.

MRS. SAUVAGEOT

In World War II, she was attached to the public relations staff of the Portland, Ore., Army Air Base, where she edited a hospital publication and directed occupational therapy.

Since 1946 she has been editor of the Voice, employee publication of Peoples Hospital, and director of the entire public relations program for the institution.

She is the wife of Dr. Paul Sauvageot, Akron heart specialist. One of their two sons, Andre, is entering Ohio University this fall, the other, Jules, is a high school senior.

She is a sister of James G. Boden, '31, and John W. Boden, '34.

Trustee Named Sales Head

Board of Trustees member H. E. Frederick, '19, of Marysville, has been appointed director of sales for the Shea Chemical Corp., producers of dicalcium phosphate for the livestock feed industry.

Mr. Frederick, who was appointed to the Board of Trustees last year, is well-known in the feed industry, having spent his entire career in some segment of the business.

MR. FREDERICK

After sales work for Ralston Purina Co. for several years, he assisted in organizing Scott Mills, Inc., of Marysville, which concern he served as secretary-treasurer. He helped organize the Ohio Poultry Council, serving as president, and is also past president of the Ohio Grain Mill and Feed Dealers Association, and Ohio Agricultural Development Council. Mr. Frederick was one of the men who brought the Ohio Animal Nutrition Conference into being, and has continued to serve on its advisory board.

He assisted in the writing of the present Ohio Feed Law, which was enacted in 1940.

Continuing to live in Marysville, he will direct the sales of all diacium phosphate produced at both the Adams, Mass., plant and the new Shea plant at Columbia, Tenn.

Grad Is Juniata Official

Robert A. Newcombe, '49, has been named director of admissions at Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa. As admissions director, he will be responsible for the vast testing program conducted by Juniata in approximately 300 high schools in a four-state area.

Mr. Newcombe returned to his home community of Huntingdon last year as a personnel assistant for Fiberglas. At Fiberglas, he was responsible for employee activities and was editor of the plant newspaper.

Mr. Newcombe was sales manager of the Denver Bottling Corp. for two years in Denver, Col. He served in the Army Air Corps for three and one-half years and flew 50 missions in the Mediterranean Theater of War as a Tech Sgt radio gunner on a B-25. He also performed personnel work for the Air Force at Miami Beach, Fla.

MR. NEWCOMBE

'Shive' Concludes Official Association With Ohio University

(Continued from Page 15)

Smithfield High School, where he was teaching. One of them was Thomas Wolfe, '19, a longtime member of the University faculty, Athens bank officer, and coal mine operator. The other was William Arden Rush, '24, Columbus schoolman, an outstanding athlete during his four years at Ohio University.

The college career of "Shive," who was born Feb. 9, 1893, in Vinton County, was interrupted by more than three years of military service and a couple of interim periods when he worked (school teaching, coal mining, working in a steel mill) to earn money to continue his education.

He was captain of the 318th Inf. Reg., 80th Div., and following the war

Born in Huntingdon, he attended Juniata College for two years, before coming to Ohio University. He has taken graduate study in personnel work at the University of Denver.

Ohio University's President John C. Baker is a graduate of Juniata and is now serving as a member of its Board of Trustees.

Heads Burroughs Branch

Charles E. Black, '33, is heading the Flint Branch of the Burroughs Adding Machine Company. Mr. Black's appointment to the Flint position followed more than three years as supervisor of the Home Office Sales Department's Industrial Section. He joined the Burroughs organization in 1936 as a salesman at its Wheeling, W. Va. branch. Mrs. Black is the former Kathryn Wasserman, '33. A brother and sister-in-law: Hugh Black, '40, (senior sales representative and systems analyst with Burroughs in Muskegon, Mich.) and Mrs. Hugh Black (Helen Haller, '42).

MR. BLACK

served as an interpreter at the Versailles Peace Conference. In 1931 in Columbus, the French honored him with a medal and citation for bravery in the defense of Verdun.

Reentering Ohio University in February, 1921, he received his degree the same year and then went to Ohio State University where he taught French and studied law. After receiving his law degree, he practiced in Columbus until he became second assistant attorney general under Edward C. Turner and later first assistant under Attorney General Gilbert B. Tuman. A nephew, Joe Gill, '38, holds the same position of first assistant today. (Other Ohio University relatives: Harold Shively, '13, a brother; Mrs. Carleton Corner, '36, a niece, and an uncle, Craven Shively, who attended in the latter part of the 1800's.) Following six years of public service, he resumed private practice and for the past 20 years has been general counsel for the Ohio Railroad Association, representing 13 railroads in Ohio.

"Shive's" home ("the biggest little house in the country") is in South Charleston, near Columbus. His feelings about his University are in evidence inside and outside his home, itself only 25 years younger than his University. From its deliberate green and white exterior and the walls of several rooms lined with pictures and other Ohio University memorabilia one sees definitely the influence and the great significance of Ohio University in the life of Earl Shively.

Besides the South Charleston home, he and Mrs. Shively own and operate a large farm in Madison County. Mrs. Shively, a graduate of Ohio State University, represents the one defection to Ohio University on the part of "Shive," but, to those who know her, an understandable defection.

"Shive" puts his land second only to his wife among his material and spiritual assets and the things he would part with last. But even though now the possessor of a sizeable chunk of rich, central Ohio flatland, he can't hide his admiration and respect for the "hill country" that was his heritage and that he still owns a part of. The hill country is a challenge to a man—or to an ambitious youth who wanted an education. This rough terrain gives up its riches grudgingly, but it teaches many things to those who accept its challenge. It can make or break a man. It helped make "Shive."

And perhaps in the heart of "Shive" there's a deep-seated love for Vinton County and its hills because their being next-door to Athens brought him to Ohio University.

On the Alumni Front

Executive Committee Meets

The role of alumni in the University's Sesquicentennial plans was discussed at length at the September 5 and 6 meeting of the Association's Executive Committee in Columbus. Topping the list of the proposed alumni Sesquicentennial activities was an alumni scholarships program commemorating the University's 150 years. The committee approved the program and will offer it to the Alumni Council for action when it meets October 24 and 25.

Committee members attending the meeting were Carr Liggett, '16, of Cleveland, president; Mrs. Alice Edwards Wright, '27, of Akron, vice president; Edward B. Wright, '38, of Cincinnati, vice president; Clark E. Williams, '21, of Athens, secretary; William H. Fenzel, '18, of Athens, treasurer; P. F. Good, '26, of Athens, and Clifford L. Hughes, '33, of Ashtabula, members-at-large. Also attending were William Morris, '42, council representative of Columbus; Martin L. Hecht, '46, associate secretary and associate director of the Ohio University Fund, and Robert W. McCreanor, '48, MS '49, editor of the Alumnus and the Green and White.

Action by the committee included: (1) Directed Alumnus to "tell the story" of the significance of scholarships sponsored by alumni groups and others; (2) Recommended for council action proposal that Alumni Office not furnish mailing lists to political candidates; (3) Named members Fenzel and Good to develop program for increasing subscriptions to Alumnus and to present it to the council; (4) Voted to drop the "X" symbol after the class year designation in the Alumnus; (5) Moved to drop year designation on addresses of Alumnus subscribers;

(6) Approved report by Mr. Hecht on plan to have letterheads and club membership cards printed for each local organization, and authorized Alumni Office to re-sell, at cost, the stationery and the membership cards to local organizations; (7) Approved present plan of inviting by Alumni Office letters specific reunion classes to campus for June Commencement and Alumni Day, and directed Alumnus to urge all alumni to return; (8) Approved report on baseball, basketball, and football varsity letter winners reunion plan, but urged inclusion of other sports as soon as possible.

Council to Convene

A meeting of the Council of the Ohio University Alumni Association will be held on the campus the weekend of Homecoming (October 24 and 25).

The Alumni Council, formed two years ago, is the governing body of the Association. An Executive Committee made up of Association officers carries out the mandates of the Council and handles the interim business between Council meetings.

The Council is comprised of the Alumni Council Representative for each alumni center. He (or she) heads up the alumni program in his locality.

A Friday evening and a Saturday morning meeting are scheduled for the Council, whose members and wives will also have a full program of social activities. Included in the latter will be a dinner Friday.

On Saturday, they will be guests of the University at a luncheon in the dining room at the Ohio Stadium and at the Homecoming game between the Bobcats and Miami.

Californians Meet

More than 40 alumni gathered for the July 29 meeting of the Ohio University Alumni Association of Southern California, held at the El Coyote restaurant in Los Angeles.

Speaking to the group was Prof. Ernest E. Roy, '24, professor of accounting, who taught at the 1952 summer school of Fresno State Teachers College.

William R. Blumenthal, '14, president of the Southern California organization, reported that "despite earthquakes, summer vacations, conventions, unusually unusual torrid weather the meeting was a success in every sense of the word."

Forty-four were present, said Mr. Blumenthal, "including the 'mascot,' young Van Smith."

He was so impressed, Mr. Blumenthal reported, that he said, "I'm going to my daddy's college—OU, when I grow up."

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA 'OHIOANS' have good turnout for summer meeting (the ALUMNUS regrets it can't identify all in the group; fourth from the left, front row, is William R. Blumenthal, '14, president of the organization, and on his left is Prof. Ernest E. Roy, '24, of the University)

(Van's father is Richard J. Smith, '46.)

Other officers of the group are Mrs. W. J. Fraz, '36, vice president; Henry A. Fox, '41, secretary; Ralph W. Arnold, '35, treasurer.

St. Louis Plans Club

Some 40 Ohio University alumni and guests attended a dinner meeting, July 10, at the Candlelight Inn in St. Louis, Missouri. Arrangements for the get-together were made by a committee headed by Mrs. Harold Vorhees (Dorothy Lawrey, '37), of suburban Kirkwood.

Among guests of the group were Alumni Secretary Clark Williams and Marty Hecht, associate secretary and associate Ohio University Fund director, who were on their way to attend the annual meeting of the American Alumni Council. Special guests were several high school graduates from Kirkwood, who are either now enrolled at Ohio University or who will enter this fall, and their parents.

Sentiment was expressed for the organization of a permanent alumni club in St. Louis, and plans for such a group are now being developed.

—Coming Events—

- Oct. 7—Cleveland Bobcat Dinner, Athletic Club, 6:30 P.M.
- Oct. 9—McConnellsville Alumni Club Dinner
- Oct. 11—Cleveland Women's Club Football Luncheon, Women's City Club, Bulkeley Building, 1501 Euclid, 12 Noon
- Oct. 18—Akron Bobcat Club Football Party, Kent Student Union Building, following O.U.-Kent game
- Oct. 24-25—Alumni Council Meeting, Ohio University

Letter from Liggett

Dear Fellow Alumnus:

ONE THING on which you and I can start the college year in perfect agreement is the fact that the past summer has been hotter than the famous hinges. Such thermogenic meteorological conditions as we've experienced are not conducive to cerebration, as you might say, though you probably wouldn't. Nevertheless, the Executive Committee of your Alumni Association met in Columbus the weekend after Labor Day and despite the inclement colorific environment of the Dresher, we beat our brains out earnestly for a whole evening and much of the next day on the problems of your Association.

As you might also say, ignoring your college education, we got problems. A number of them we managed to get bathed, dressed and their hair combed ready to present to the Alumni Council at its meeting in Athens on Friday evening, October 24 and Saturday morning the 25th. I hope that all of you alumni chapter officers understand that you're members of the Alumni Council and that this responsibility gives you the answer to such arguments against the trip as (a) that you haven't time to come, (b) that you can't afford the trip or (c) that Aunt Emily is visiting you and you can't go off and leave her.

But this is so important a meeting that you'll just have to take a "the heck with Aunt Emily" attitude. You needn't tell her also that it's Homecoming with hundreds of your old friends returning to see the Bobcats beat Miami, with the big parade and decorated frat houses and social doings to make it a weekend to remember. If you haven't been to the campus recently, you owe it to yourself to see the physical blossoming of "one of the finest small universities in the country."

That Homecoming Day parade, by the way, has been changed to after lunch on Saturday, which is going to give a lot more returning-by-automobile alumni a chance to enjoy it. When I've driven down from Cleveland on Saturday mornings, I've usually missed it.

We want you to arrive Friday evening in time for 6 o'clock dinner. After dinner we get down to business. I can warn you that some of it is of such a vital and challenging nature that you won't want to miss being in on it!

If you haven't already made your plans to attend Homecoming, whether you're an Alumni Council member or not, I urge you to come and give yourself a wonderful weekend.

Sincerely,

President, Ohio University Alumni Association

ST. LOUIS ALUMNI hold dinner meeting with Ohio University students from the area and Clark Williams and Marty Hecht as special guests

Alumni in the Armed Forces

(One feature the Alumnus wishes it would never have to offer is this department for news about alumni in military service. But the time has again come when their activities should be distinguished from the civilian. Nine Ohio University men have died in uniform since the beginning of the war in Korea. Ed.)

Killed in Action

First Lieut. James H. Heffron, '51, was reported killed in action July 30, in Korea. Lieutenant Heffron, 23 years old, received his Bachelor of Science in Commerce degree in February, 1951, and was commissioned at the same time.

Before going to Korea in May, 1952, he had been stationed at Fort Knox, Ky., and Fort Benning, Ga. In Korea he was executive officer in Company D., 27th Inf. Reg. of the 25th Division.

Born in Metamora, Ohio, Lieutenant Heffron is survived by his wife, Sandra, of Manitou Beach, Mich.; parents, Dr. and Mrs. Harold Heffron, of Toledo; brothers, Dr. Charles Heffron and Hugh Heffron, and a grandmother, Mrs. C. H. Heffron, Sr.

Baseball Star Dies

Pvt. John Hrasch, '51, a baseball great at Ohio University and All-American shortstop in 1950, was killed August 18 in an automobile accident near Camp Pickett, Va., where he was stationed. Another Camp Pickett soldier died in the accident, described as a head on collision between their car and a truck.

In service only a few months, the 25-year-old Hrasch was the baseball property of the Pittsburgh Pirates and had played with their New Orleans club before entering service.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hrasch, of Cleveland.

Accident Is Fatal

Pvt. James P. Heed, '51, was killed July 5 in a two-car accident on the Pennsylvania Turnpike. Four other persons were killed in the collision when an approaching car went out of control, crossed the dividing strip, and crashed into the car in which Private Heed was a passenger, enroute to his home in Parma.

Private Heed, son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm C. Heed, of Parma, was an outstanding student in the radar school at Fort Monmouth, N. J., and had been asked to remain there as an instructor following his graduation in September.

Crash Kills Navy Flier

Lieut. (s.g.) Thomas E. Jenike, '50, was killed August 1 when his plane crashed during Navy maneuvers in the Caribbean area. The crash was reportedly caused when the Navy pilot attempted a forced landing on a small island, after being unable to return to his carrier, the Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Lieutenant Jenike, 26 years old, received his wings March 19 of this year. After leaving Ohio University, he entered the Navy and later received an appointment to the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

His survivors include his wife, Mary Louise, and infant daughter Ann Denise of Pensacola, Fla.; his parents, Major and Mrs. William F. Jenike, formerly of Hillsboro, Ohio, now living in France; brothers William of Cincinnati and Joe in France; grandparents Mr. and Mrs. J. Ed Shannon of Hillsboro.

Armed Forces Briefs

Lt. Col. Glenn H. Gardner, '44, is assigned to the European Command at Bremerhaven, Germany. An Infantry officer, he was graduated last summer from the Army Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kans. Colonel Gardner is a former head of Army ROTC at the University.

His class, the largest since World War II, included 322 Army officers, nine from the Air Force, eight from the MAKING LIKE John Wayne, who played the role of a rugged Marine in Republic Studio's "Sands of Iwo Jima", is PFC John Mitovich, Jr., USMC, '51, while engaging in war games at Onslow Beach. Pic Mitovich is a June, 1951, graduate from the School of Journalism. While at Ohio University, he was known to most of his associates as "Jasper." He returned to the university in September, 1951, to continue his studies in graduate school, but he left in February, 1952, to await a call into the Armed Forces. After boot training at Parris Island, S. C., he was sent to the Fleet Marine Force headquarters command of Lt. Gen. Graves B. Erskine in Norfolk, Va., where he is now combat correspondent with the Public Information Section. Although he covered the amphibious exercises here as a correspondent, the husky, 165-pound Leatherneck still had to do his part as an Infantry Marine.

Marine Corps, one from the Navy and 61 from foreign countries. Secretary of the Army Frank Pace, Jr., gave the commencement address.

The course, which lasted 10 months, was designed to prepare the officers for duty as commanders and general staff officers at division, corps, and army levels.

He entered the Army in January 1941 and served in the European-African-Middle Eastern campaigns in World War II.

Major James A. Wiley, '42, was a member of the same Command and General Staff College graduating group as Colonel Gardner.

Major Wiley was assigned to Trieste, where he is an officer in the Military Police Corps. He served in the Pacific Theater in World War II.

Second Lieut. Edgar R. McGreevy, '51, was a summer graduate of the Far East Command Chemical school at Camp Gifu, Japan.

Capt. James S. Dearth, '33, has been awarded the Third Army Certificate of Achievement for "faithful and efficient service" in directing Third Army training for defense against new types of warfare.

FIRST LIEUT. KENNETH D. FROST, '40, is assistant adjutant of the Chemical Replacement Training Center at Fort McClellan, Ala. Lieutenant Frost is shown in the picture receiving the Bronze Star for meritorious service in Korea, where he served seven months. A veteran of 10 years service, he also served in Europe in World War II.

The presentation marked Captain Dearth's departure for a year-long Chemical Corps course for officers which began August 18 at Ft. McClellan, Ala.

A member of the graduating class of 1933, he was associated with public schools in Ohio before he enlisted in the Army in 1942. He has also completed a year of post-graduate studies at the University.

During World War II he participated in four campaigns in the Southwest Pacific.

Second Lieut. Raymond Nicodemus, '50, was among the Signal Corps officer candidates who were commissioned at Fort Monmouth, N. J., last summer. From there he went to Camp Gordon, Ga., for further schooling.

First Lieut. Floyd H. Hall, '50, on active duty in Korea, was cited last summer by his division newspaper, the 7th Division Hour Glass, for his part in the rescue of a wounded member of his patrol. He and an assistant squad leader faced an open field of fire to bring the wounded soldier to safety.

Lieutenant Hall, a veteran of World War II with the American forces in Italy, was recalled to active duty after he had started the study of dentistry at Western Reserve.

First Lieut. Robert Arter, '50, is now serving with the 25th Infantry Division in eastern Korea.

The 25th, beginning its third year on the peninsula, held off the Reds at Pusan in the summer of 1950.

Lieutenant Arter, a platoon leader in Company C of the 35th Infantry Regiment, arrived in Korea last February and has won the Combat Infantryman Badge and the Purple Heart for wounds received in action.

Lt. Col. James Davis, USMC, '38, is now attending the Army Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kans.

Colonel Davis entered the Marines 12 years ago and served in the Asiatic-Pacific theater during World War II and immediately following.

Edward A. Bailey, '37 was recently promoted to colonel while serving at the Naples headquarters of the Allied Forces Southern Europe. He is executive officer of the plans and organization division of the southern European defense force.

A 1938 graduate of the U. S. Military Academy and a 1950 graduate of Columbia University, Colonel Bailey served in Europe during World War II.

Pfc William D. Ginther, '51, has won the Combat Infantryman Badge, symbol of the front line soldier, while serving in Korea with the 25th Infantry Division.

Cpl. Charles H. Stewart, '49, is serving with the X Corps in Korea. Cpl. Stewart, a photographer, is assigned to Headquarters Service Company of the 73rd Engineer Combat Battalion.

Second Lieut. Gilbert L. Neal, '50, MA '52, is now on security duty with the 1st Cavalry Division in Japan.

His unit, one of the first to fight in Korea, currently is undergoing extensive aerial movement and amphibious training on the northernmost Japanese island of Hokkaido. It was transferred to Japan last December after 17 months of combat.

Second Lieut. Robert L. Birch, '51, and Cpl. Jack L. Wheeler, '51, are also with the 1st Cavalry Division in Japan.

Lieut. Conrad J. Josten, '51, is a Quartermaster officer with the Far East Command in Japan.

First Lieut. Robert L. Clark, '50, received his wings and was graduated from Reese Air Force Base, Lubbock, Texas, in July. He was assigned to the 105th Fighter Interceptor Squadron at McGhee-Tyson Airport, Knoxville, Tenn.

First Lieut. Robert G. Hawk, '50, has been assigned to the Fifth Air Force headquarters in Korea.

William M. Bartels, '51, recently was promoted to sergeant while serving with the 25th Infantry Division in the eastern Korean sector.

Sergeant Bartels has been in Korea since February of this year and is serving as a senior technician in the 35th Infantry Regiment's Medical Company.

Lt. Col. John P. Wetherholt, '20, is ordnance officer of the 301st Logistical Command at Camp Rucker, Ala.

He is a veteran of World War II and the Korean fighting.

French Workshop Outlined

(Continued from Page 13)

tion became more real, the historical Latin Quarter with its Pantheon and other points of interest, the wonderful meal at La Rôtisserie Peregrondine where we sampled snails, crepes suzettes, and many other interesting French foods, the memorable visit to l'Opera, that magnificent and famous theatre, where we saw an interesting ballet, the night at the Eiffel tower when we watched the lights come on at the Arc de Triomphe, Sacre Coeur, and other places, onion soup at Les Halles Centrales at 3:30 in the morning, following celebration of La Fête de France in true French custom, and the many little interesting individual excursions when we went out by ourselves to try our ability to talk with the French shop keepers, the people on the streets and on the subway.

A highlight of the summer was a three-day trip by bus through the beautiful Normandy countryside. Historic points of interest were seen - Normandy beaches, magnificent cathedrals at Evreux, Lisieux, Caen, St. Lo, Coutances, and the American cemetery near Coutances. An unforgettable dinner was served on the island at L'Ermitage de Tatihou, after which we rushed to get the boat back to the mainland before the tide went out.

Other tours lead us to the Palace of Versailles with its magnificent gardens, and to the Palace and Forest of Fontainebleau, to the beautiful cathedral of Chartres with its rose windows, and to Chantille, Rambouillet, and many others. Each place seemed an enchanted spot, a voice out of the past giving us first-hand knowledge of French history and a deeper understanding of France today.

ALMOST EXACTLY ONE YEAR after receiving their degrees, and completing Air ROTC training, at Ohio University, three members of the class held a reunion at Okinawa. Reading the ALUMNUS are (left to right) Lt. Norman F. Reiter, Lt. Arthur B. Meyer, and Lt. John C. Callahan, all '51.

Here and There Among the Alumni

1907

JOHN S. BECKETT is technical director for Sterilometer Laboratories in Los Angeles. He formerly held a similar position with Aseptec Thermo Indicator Co. in Los Angeles.

1908

E. C. RANEY was recently elevated to board chairman of Ranco, Inc. Ranco is the nation's largest manufacturer of refrigeration and automobile heater controls. It normally employs 2000 in plants in Columbus, Delaware, Plain City, and Motherwell, Scotland. Mr. Raney, who has been president of the company, founded Ranco's predecessor, the Automatic Reclusing Circuit Breaker Co., in 1913.

1910

JESSE D. ALSPACH, industrial salesman for the Pure Oil Co. at Huntington, W. Va., has retired after nearly 29 years service with the company. Prior to being assigned to Huntington in 1938, he had represented the company in the Columbus, Indianapolis, and Cincinnati areas. During his 29 years with Pure Oil, he has handled industrial accounts from the Pittsburgh area west to the Mississippi and from Lansing, Mich., to Tennessee and has driven more than 700,000 miles in Pure Oil service.

1912

JOHN C. RICHARDS has retired from teaching after almost a half century in the profession, the past 39 years at Cleveland West Tech. Always interested in agriculture, he is spending a good part of his time in his large garden plot at his Rocky River home, where he follows all the modern techniques of farming, even though by hand. At the University, Mr. Richards was for two years holder of the records for the 220 and 100-yard dashes. He supervised intramural athletics at West Tech. He earned a second BS degree in 1913.

1913

LEWIS E. COULTER, a teacher in the Columbus schools for 32 years, has retired from teaching, but plans to give full time to the conduct of a real estate agency in Columbus. Prior to beginning his long career in the Columbus schools, Mr. Coulter had taught in the Malta schools and in Oil City and Ludlow, Pa.

1914

FRED M. MCKAY, contract agent for the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., has retired after 33 years service with the utility. Toastmaster at the banquet honoring Mr. McKay was EVAN E. WILLIAMS, '50, assistant contract agent. Speakers included HOWARD C. BOBO, '19, Athens division manager; and ROBERT L. GAUS, '50, commercial engineer. Colored films of the occasion taken by HOWARD E. BOBO, '49, were presented to Mr. McKay.

1915

CHARLES T. PAUGH was recently named acting chief, Process and Design Branch, Engineering Division, Research and Engineering Command, Army Chemical Corps, at Army Chemical Center, Maryland. This lengthy designation places Mr. Paugh in a civilian advisory capacity on the staff of the commanding general.

1917

GEORGE L. CHAPMAN, associated with duPont for over a quarter of century, is superintendent of the company's Cleveland works.

1918

LOUISE HARRIS has been named city librarian at the Lancaster (Ohio) Public Library. A former teacher, Miss Harris had been assistant in the library and for several months prior to her appointment acting librarian.

1921

WILLIAM M. BATES of Clarksburg, W. Va., recently wrote that he plans to bring his family to the campus for Homecoming. Mr. Bates is a retired high school teacher.

1922

GRACE A. BLAKE is head of the English department at McClain High School in Greenfield. She has been at McClain as head of the department 28 years. She previously taught two years at Chauncey. She has also been a member of the University's branch faculty at Chillicothe since OU-Chillicothe was opened after World War II.

JOHN G. HIBBARD has been named manager of the Prudential Insurance Co.'s North Central regional office in Minneapolis. He was formerly associated with the company's Cincinnati office (Ohio Valley branch) as assistant manager and production manager.

J. S. SHERRARD is cashier of the Athens National Bank. He was named to the position this year. Has been associated with the Athens bank since before 1925 as a teller and, later, assistant cashier. T. R. BIDDLE, '91, former University trustee, is chairman of the board; THOMAS M. WOLFE, '19, faculty member, is president and a director, and Mrs. T. R. Biddle (GRACE POSTON, '12), is a director.

1923

VERENA L. WHITE, teacher in Akron's Garfield High School, was Ohio's representative at the 1952 meeting of the World Organization of the Teaching Profession, which was held in Denmark. Miss White, who holds her master's degree from Ohio State University, has been in Akron since 1928, since 1930 at Garfield, where she teaches history and government. She is a past state director of the American Association of University Women and now membership chairman of the Akron branch.

1924

Mrs. Edward H. Gaylord (NORMA MINICK) is owner of the Parkway Motel in Casper, Wyoming.

1925

CHRISTINE JOHNSON, teacher of choral music in the Charleston, W. Va. High School, has been awarded a fellowship by the Fund for the Advancement of Education. The fund is part of the Ford Foundation. Miss Johnson will spend the 1952-53 school year in study in New York, California, and abroad.

EDWARD JENNINGS and Mrs. Jennings (MILDRED LINCICOME, '27), of Boston, Mass., were recent visitors to the campus. They came especially to enroll their daughter Judith in the University. Mr. Jennings is in the advertising department of the Boston Post.

1925

DEWEY F. STONE is executive head of the Fairfield schools at Leesburg and Highland. Formerly superintendent of schools at Albany, Ohio, Mr. Stone has had 22 years of experience in school administration.

RHEA PETTIT BANGERT, judge of the Hocking County (Ohio) probate court, has been named state chairman of the advisory committee on detention care. Judge Bangert has practiced law in Logan, Ohio, since 1927 except for five years in Columbus. She was elected judge of the probate court in 1949.

1898 — DR. JOSEPHUS TUCKER ULLOM, '98, of Mt. Airy, Pa., loaned this picture of the four Beta Theta Pi's who were Bobcats of 54 years ago. The four were Henry P. Kohberger, '99; Harry R. Bahrman, '00; Charles H. Bryson, '11; Ned Gibson, '00 (all now deceased)

1927

Mrs. Randolph A. Heard (EMMA GRAHAM) is chairman of the elementary education division of the Slippery Rock State Teachers College, Slippery Rock, Pa. She holds a master's degree and a doctor's degree from the University of Pittsburgh.

ANNE SAUM of Anne Saum and Associates, a New York City organization for personnel and sales training consulting, has started publishing the Saum Digest. The digest is a twice-a-month, neatly-presented, well-written aid for retail store executives. Miss Saum was director of the University Service Bureau 10 years. She went to New York in 1937 as supervisor of the direct mail department of the R. H. Donnelley Co. Her career has included positions with Carl Byoir & Associates, Inc., public relations counselors; Stern Bros., and Macy's. She was director of staff training at the last named firm prior to establishing Anne Saum and Associates in 1947. She is a member of the University's Alumni Public Relations Committee.

FRANK M. CAVETT was co-writer of the script for "The Greatest Show on Earth," C. B. DeMille's movie epic on the circus. Known as "Pinkie" on the campus, Mr. Cavett was also co-writer for Bing Crosby's "Going My Way" and other films.

1928

ALPHA ANN CRAMER, has retired after completing 49 years as a teacher in Darke County (Ohio) schools. Miss Cramer has taught at Union City since 1922, in some instances teaching three generations of a family. Many of her former students returned to visit and sit in her classroom in the weeks prior to her retirement. She is now living at her farm home near Versailles, Ohio, where also live her brother and four sisters, among them, FANNIE CRAMER, '22, also a retired teacher.

LIEUT. WAYNE G. MILLER is heading the training subdivision of the Columbus Police Department.

1929

THE REV. LEONARD A. DONNALLY is minister of the Central Church (Methodist) in Toledo.

LT. COL. PAUL C. KIEFER is professor of science and tactics, Air Force ROTC, at Ohio Wesleyan University.

1930

GENE TRACE is vice president and general manager of Mahoning Valley Broadcasting in Youngstown. The company, operators of WBBW in Youngstown, an affiliate of the American Broadcasting Co. network, recently purchased Station WATG in Ashland.

MRS. MARCELINE WOODRUM BELL of Middleport, Ohio, is the mother of Emma Jane Buell, a student nurse at Bethesda Hospital in Cincinnati who was selected "nurse of Lakeside" and served at the 1952 Methodist conference held there.

1931

BERNARD F. SWEENEY is associated with the Charleston Group Companies of the Columbia Gas System, Employee Relations Department. He was formerly with the Veterans Administration in West Virginia, leaving the VA for the utility this past summer.

1932

MRS. ALBERTA ROBY BIASLEY is teaching fourth grade in a school district near San Antonio, Tex., and teaching English at the International Institute in San Antonio.

FLETCHER WILLIAMS is an interior designer, with studios in Cleveland. He formerly was with the Sterling and Welch Co. in Cleveland.

1933

Mrs. Jack M. Stein (ISABEL SMITH) writes from New York City to inquire about the alumni center there (which is in process of reactivation) and about persons on the campus. Mrs. Stein's husband is head of the undergraduate Department of German at Columbia University.

FREDERICK E. FILLER is advertising manager of the Salem (Ohio) News.

GEORGE ROSE is utilization superintendent for the Toledo district of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. A 15-year employee, he began his association with the company in Athens. He was general service instructor in the plant engineering department of the Columbus general office prior to his Toledo appointment about a year ago.

EVERETT S. KEAIRNS (also MA '38) is a metallurgist with the Globe Iron Company of Jackson, Ohio. He has been a teacher in the Jackson High School for 20 years, except for three years during World War II. In 1943 he became an instructor in aeronautics for the Navy at Ohio Wesleyan, returning to Jackson in 1946 as assistant principal and teacher. He accepted the position with Globe a few months ago. Mrs. Kearns is the former VIOLA FRITZ, '33.

1934

HARRY D. (CHICK) MAURER has resigned as head football coach at Uhrichsville, Ohio, High School, where over the past 10 years he has compiled an impressive record. He left the coaching job to become general manager of the City Auto Co., a Chrysler-Plymouth agency in Uhrichsville. At the University, he won three letters each in football and track and played left half-back and safety on the team that beat Navy 14-0.

DR. H. W. KLOPFER (also MA '38) is associate professor of anatomy at the Tulane University School of Medicine in New Orleans. He resigned his deanship at the College of the Ozarks, Clarksville, Ark., to accept the medical school position. Mrs. Kloepler is the former RUTH McCOTY '38.

DR. F. WAYNE HOUSE is an associate professor of business education at North Illinois State Teachers College.

DR. HUGO R. MCGRAW is technical coordinator for Koppers Co., Inc., chemical division in Pittsburgh. He had been successively senior chemist, lab supervisor, and research chemist with Koppers.

CLAIR E. FRANKLIN and Mrs. Franklin (BERNICE DIEHL, '28) included Athens and the University in an itinerary that also featured stops at Rio de Janeiro, Sao Paulo, Lima, Panama City, and Havana. The couple began their Latin American tour in June and stopped at the University August 8 on their way back to Trona, Calif., where Mr. Franklin is principal of the high school.

1935

BERNARD W. (BEANY) BERINS has been named coach of the East Elementary School in Lancaster. He formerly was on the staff of the Ohio Boys Industrial School.

THE REV. WADE RADFORD of Piketon, Ohio, is chairman of the executive committee of the Town and Country Commission of the Methodist Church Ohio Conference which is conducting a preliminary survey of the needs of the Methodist Church in the proposed atomic energy plant area. The Rev. Mr. Radford is minister of the Piketon and Lucasville Methodist churches.

MALCOLM ODELL is owner of the M. P. Odell Co. in Cleveland, manufacturers' agents selling electronic test equipment.

1936

JOHN L. PICKENS is assistant supervising engineer in the home office engineering department of the Hartford Accident and Indemnity Co. Following graduation, Mr. Pickens joined the engineering department of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. He was later with the pilot training division of Northeast Airlines and the ordinance division of Bell Aircraft. Following Navy service in World War II, he joined the Hartford company in 1946 as a member of the engineering service office in Albany, N. Y., and in 1948 was transferred to the home office engineering department. Mrs. Pickens is the former LORNA JANE COOPER, '38.

1906—WHEN PHI DELTA THETA celebrated Founders Day this year, among those honored with 50-year certificates were (left to right) Orville F. Figley, Charles H. Harris, Manning G. Coultrap, and John H. Preston, all of whom entered the University in 1902

1941—RICHARD L. CHAPMAN, a member of the sales department of the A. L. Garber Co., of Ashland, is shown with the Ohio Junior Chamber of Commerce Tiemeyer-Augustine Trophy, which was awarded him as the outstanding state committee chairman. He headed the committee which promoted Junior Achievement on a statewide basis. Elected a vice president of the state Junior C of C, he will have Youth Activities in his portfolio this year.

MAURICE G. MCCALL, junior high school teacher in Hamilton, heads the Junior Achievement program of the Middletown Junior Chamber of Commerce. A national movement that was conceived in 1919, Junior Achievement was organized by the Middletown Jaycees in 1941. Since JA's inception, Middletown has had 211 Junior Achievement companies operated by teenagers in more than a dozen fields. The latest is a woodworking company. In all cases, the companies are set up soundly under the guidance of Jaycee advisors from the fields of sales, accounting, and production. The teen-age operations produce and market, pay wages and stock dividends, and in all ways provide sound training for the future adults.

1937

CARL C. BYERS (MA) is among the contributors to the Edward R. Murrow "This I Believe" radio and newspaper feature. Mr. Byers, superintendent of schools, Parma City School District was invited by Station WGAR of Cleveland to record his beliefs for the program. The popular feature has as contributors nationally and internationally known personalities.

ROBERT J. HIER is an instructor and counselor in the Burbank, Calif., High School. Mrs. Hier (DOROTHY LATHAM, '37) teaches home economics in a junior high school in South Pasadena.

GEORGE H. RUSSELL is a special agent in Cleveland for the Security Insurance Co. of New Haven, Conn.

1938

ROBERT W. MOORE is one-third of an accounting firm partnership, Baldwin Looft-bourrow, and Moore, that was recently formed in Columbus. Mr. Moore, who became a CPA in January, 1951, has been associated with Mr. Baldwin since 1945. He previously was an accountant with The Jeffrey Manufacturing Co. and Curtiss-Wright Corp. in Columbus. Mrs. Moore is the former MAE McCULLOUGH, '34.

VIOLET L. PATTON joined the New Jersey College for Women, Rutgers University, faculty this fall as an assistant professor of art. She was formerly on the faculty of Miami University at Oxford.

1939

MABEL G. COLE is assistant director of the audio-visual education program of American Book Co.'s Audio-Education, Inc.

WAYNE W. HUMMEL (also MS '50) is an instructor with Army Educational Center No. 10, APO 807, New York, N. Y.

1940

WILLIAM A. STAFF is senior electronics engineer with the Bureau of Ships, U. S. Navy Department. He has been with the Bureau of Ships since 1942.

EARL C. BARNES is manager of the small motor engineering department of the Reliance Electric and Engineering Co. in Cleveland. A member of the Reliance firm since 1940, he holds a master's degree from Case.

WILLIAM A. RODGERS, president of Basic Construction Co., of Chillicothe, Ohio, has announced that his company will open two "ready-mix" concrete plants in the area of the Pike County atomic energy project, one at Waverly, the other at Sargents. Mrs. Rodgers is the former RUTH SMITH, '44.

HERBERT H. STICKNEY is office manager, propellant division, Grand Central Aircraft Co., Glendale, Calif. Mrs. Stickney is the former PHYLLIS JACOBS, '43.

1951—WILLIAM E. FURST greeted Alumni Secretary Clark Williams, '21, and Associate Secretary Marty Hecht, '46, when they arrived at Sun Valley for the 1952 American Alumni Council meetings. Mr. Furst was a room clerk at the famed Idaho resort while he was waiting to enter Ohio State University's medical school, where he will study toward a Ph.D. with psychoanalysis as his career objective

1941

JOHN R. WHEELER is an insurance clerk with the Republic Steel Corp. in Cleveland. His wife is the former BETTY JANE WARD, '42.

1942

DR. JOHN C. HERRON is an entomologist with the Velsciol Corp. of Chicago. Mrs. Herron is the former MARY E. BRIDGE, '39.

Mrs. Charles F. LeTurgez (ALICE HOWELL) lists her occupation as "housewife." Now the mother of two children, she formerly was with Westinghouse and RCA as a draftsman and during World War II was a Red Cross staff assistant at an Army Personnel Center in Hawaii. Mr. LeTurgez is with the Triple-H Construction Co. in Montgomery City, Mo.

MARTIN T. COBIN is an assistant professor of speech at West Virginia University.

1943

DICK MCCONNAUGHEY (also MS '46) is heading up an employee magazine for the long lines division of A. T. & T. in Cincinnati. He started the publication for the utility a few months ago. Mr. McConnaughey was formerly photographer for the San Antonio Express Sunday Magazine and the Associated Press, as well as a successful freelance. His wife is the former GRACE E. WEBBERN, '45.

DON R. CARR is assistant chief chemist at the duPont Grasselli Works, Grasselli, N. J. Mrs. Carr is the former HELEN J. YARSHUK, '46.

NANCY C. ORANGE, who has been studying water color painting at Penn State College, won the Schlow Purchase Prize, top award, for her painting entitled "Who Goes There?" The painting was added to the Penn State permanent collection. She also won an honorable mention for another work. Miss Orange teaches art at Niagara Falls, N. Y.

STANLEY C. LEVINSON has completed his law studies at the University of California Los Angeles School of Law and plans to take his bar examination in October. Mr. Levinson was a member of UCLA Law School's first class, which numbered 44, and had the benefit of almost individual attention from such eminent legal scholars as Dean Roscoe Pound. The class, reports Mr. Levinson, began in "wooden shacks," but finished in a $2,000,000 building. The new law graduate was formerly president of Malibu Hosiery Co. in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Norma Partlow (NORMA VAN DERVORT) sends news from Houston, Tex., about herself and another alumna. About herself: She explained why she was not able to carry out with her usual vigor alumni activities in the Houston area (which she heads up for the Association). A serious operation in April resulted in three weeks in a hospital and a long recuperative period. Mrs. Partlow sent a clipping from The Houston Post which reported the triumph of Mrs. Andor Toth (LOUISE ROSE, '43) in the Houston Music Theater's production of "Kiss Me Kate." Critics lauded her Lilli Vanessi, the feminine lead in the well-known musical. Mr. Toth, director of Houston's Summer Symphony Orchestra and first violinist of the Winter Group which is directed by the famous Efram. Kurtz, was co-director of "Kiss Me Kate."

1944

BETTY PIERPONT is a PBX operator in the report division of the Battelle Memorial Institute in Columbus. Prior to joining Battelle, she was a clerk-typist with the VA and the Naval Inspection Office in Columbus.

JOSEPH CAZANAS is associated with Ford, Bacon, and Davies, consulting engineers, New York City. One of the projects which brings him back to Ohio occasionally is the new Union Carbon and Carbide Company works at Marietta.

1945

HERBERT B. KOHN is a buyer for Michaels Brothers in Brooklyn, N. Y. Mr. Kohn reports that his brother Robert is entering the University this fall.

DR. JAMES A. TAYLOR is assistant medical officer for the National Gypsum Co. at Parsons, Kans.

CHARLES L. SELANDER is associated with the Oak Ridge National Laboratory as a health physicist. Mrs. Selander (JESSIE M. BAUM, '45) reports that his "boss" is E. J. KUNA, '40.

an Education Conference was to be held at Bad Kissingen, Germany.

JAMES G. HOWCROFT has been appointed an instructor in mathematics at West Virginia University.

DAVID LILLY is a partner in the Lilly Construction Co. in Cambridge, Mass.

MARTHA SMITH, a secretary in the American Embassy in Lisbon, Portugal, plans to resign this fall, tour Europe for a couple of months, and then return to her home in Athens. Miss Smith, who has been with the embassy since 1948, worked at the NATO conference held in Lisbon this past summer.

T. C. PORTER has been appointed executive head of the Trimble Township Schools (Athens County).

JOHN E. (JACK) MILLIKEN is cashier of the New Carlisle (Ohio) National Bank. Mrs. Milliken is the former PHYLLIS ANN SCARFF, '43.

MARY CATHERINE NICHOLSON has opened a law office in Jackson, O., and is a candidate for prosecuting attorney on the Republican ticket in Jackson County. She formerly practiced law with David G. Howell in Jackson, and prior to that practiced in Columbus.

DONALD G. FRITZ is an instrument technician in the development laboratory of the F. & M. Schaefer Brewing Co. in Brooklyn, N. Y. Don was previously with the Pittsburgh Valve and Fittings Corp. in Long Island City, N. Y.

WILLIAM J. RICHARDS, CPA, has recently opened offices in Portsmouth. He was formerly associated with Arthur Andersen & Co. of New York City. Mrs. Richards is the former PATRICIA JANE DEVER, '48.

1948

PAUL W. CARPENTER has joined the Athens High School athletic coaching staff. He concluded 12 years at Mechanicsburg school, where he was junior high coach and math teacher, to accept the Athens appointment.

RICHARD KROLL is teaching science at the Union Furnace (Ohio) High School.

CHARLES A. RHOADS received his BS in Optometry from Ohio State University this past summer. Prior to entering State, he was a research chemist at Battelle Memorial Institute in Columbus. Mrs. Rhoads is the former ELEANOR BUCK, '50.

JACK DE FOREST (also MS '50) is associated with the Producer Relations Department of Kraft Foods. He is associate editor of The Craftsman (producers' edition) a quarterly of well over 125,000 circulation that goes to dairymen, newspapers, and dairy interests throughout the country. He also writes and takes pictures for The Scallest Dairymen, another Kraft publication.

ROBERT H. KRONE, JR. is an application engineer, mining division, for General Electric in Schenectady, N. Y.

Mrs. DON R. WEIMER (SUSAN HARRIS) of Willoughby was among the artists whose paintings were selected for the University's Tenth Annual Ohio Valley Oil and Water Color Show. She is the wife of DON WEIMER, '48.

THE REV. LOREN T. RIDGI is minister of the Advance and Milledgeville (Indiana) Methodist churches. He plans to enroll in the Divinity School at the University of Chicago this fall to work toward a PhD.

1952—JANE MILLIS HAMILTON recently won her wings and is now a stewardess for American Airlines. She is assigned to flight duty aboard the company's DC-6 and Convair Flagships operating out of Love Field, Dallas, Texas.

He graduated from the Garrett Biblical Institute in Evanston, Ill., with a Bachelor of Divinity degree last June.

RICHARD W. JUVANIC began his internship with the Youngstown Hospital Association following graduation from the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine in June. A former newspaperman, he was news editor of the Girard (Ohio) News and city editor of the Niles (Ohio) Times before beginning his pre-medicine work at Ohio University. In medical school he served as secretary and vice president of the Undergraduate Medical Association and was editor of the UMA News.

SAMUEL J. BONHAM, JR., BSEd '48, MA '49, director of psychological services in the Summit County schools for the past three years, has resigned his position to accept a similar one in the Cleveland Heights schools under Supt. O. E. HILL, '28. During his association with the Summit County schools, Mr. Bonham initiated a county-wide guidance program, expanded the testing program in individual schools, and developed "Career Days" for graduating seniors.

1949

DOLORES KALAJIAN is editing the South-eastern State Tax Reports (Illinois) for Commerce Clearing House, Inc. She received her law degree from Chicago Kent College of Law and later passed the Illinois Bar examinations.

ROSEMARY T. UHLER and ROBERT W. ULLMAN were among the September recipients of master's degrees from Western Reserve University. Also WILMA E. BRANSON, '46, and PEARL M. LASH, '35.

RUTH HABERACKER won the women's singles championship and was halt of the winning women's doubles event in the Cleveland city tournament last month.

THOMAS I. BORNENKIRCHER is production manager at Station WSAZ-TV in Huntington, W. Va.

1947—WILLIAM V. SZALAY (also MEd, '50) has been appointed to the sales staff of Wyeth Inc., Philadelphia pharmaceutical concern. Mr. Szalay, formerly a high school teacher and coach, has his headquarters in Athens. His wife is the former Borboroo Pritchard, '48.

1946

WILLIAM SHESKEY (also MS '48), a former member of the economics faculty, was a speaker at a recent meeting of the National Shoe Manufacturers Association in New York City. Mr. Sheskey is an economist for the association. Mrs. Sheskey is the former CLARA E. TIPTON, '43.

DR. K. H. GREINER is a dentist in Chesterland, Ohio. He received his professional degree from Western Reserve in June of this year.

1947

CHARLES R. MCWILLIAMS, a former instructor in mathematics at the University who is education adviser, Armed Forces Information and Education Division, Regensburg, Germany, recently wrote for the current University catalog and told of meeting several Bobcats, both former students of his and classmates. He wrote that he expected "next week" to see RON WHALEN, '48, education adviser at Pirmasens, Germany, when

RICHARD H. PERSING is a junior account executive with The Jaynes Organization, an advertising agency in Cleveland. Mrs. Persing is the former BARBARA ANN GAINES, '49.

BETTY ARMSTRONG is an airline hostess for Capital Airlines, Washington, D. C.

CHARLES L. LEWIS has received his master's degree from the University of Minnesota. Mr. Lewis is a former assistant to the dean of men at Ohio University.

ROBERT E. LACKLY is with the cost accounting department of the National Tube Division of the U. S. Steel in Gary, Indiana.

LLOYD N. COOK is assistant to the personnel manager of the General Telephone Company of Ohio in Marion. The company operates 137 exchanges and employs more than 1200 persons.

WILLIAM T. DONALDSON is a civil engineer with Chester Engineers in Pittsburgh. Mrs. Donaldson (ANN HAWKINS, '44) recently wrote they want to be included on the "mailing list" when the Pittsburgh alumni organization is reactivated this fall.

PETER V. YANITY has been elected president of the senior class in the Georgetown University School of Dentistry. He was also president of the class in his sophomore and junior years.

1950

ROBERT L. REED is teaching chemistry and physics at the Vero Beach (Florida) High School. He was formerly teacher and principal at Junction City (Ohio) High School.

PATRICIA ARMSTRONG has been granted a fellowship from the Fund for the Advancement of Education, a Ford Foundation enterprise. She has been given a leave of absence as librarian at Rocky River (Ohio) High School and will spend the year at the Sorbonne in Paris and will tour the British Isles.

JAMES E. MCKELVEY is associate editor of Super Service Station, an Irving-Cloud trade journal published in Chicago. Before taking the Chicago job, Mr. McKelvey was copy editor of the Parkersburg (W. Va.) News and later wire editor of the Athens Messenger.

ROBERT L. MARSHALL (also MEd '52) has been named director of band and instructor in instrumental music at Nebraska Wesleyan University. Mrs. Marshall, a former instructor in cello at Ohio University, is an instructor in cello at the Nebraska school.

LOIS HIFT has accepted a position as medical technologist with Mercy Hospital in Portsmouth, Ohio. For the past two years she has been head of the department of hematology in the laboratory of Mt. Carmel Hospital in Columbus.

HARRY D. WESTFALL, JR. (also MEd '52) is coaching football at Murray City (Ohio) High School.

1951

ELSIE DRISCOLL is secretary of the Athens High School. She formerly was employed in the office of the president at the University.

WILLIAM L. FAY has been appointed instructor of art at Marietta College. Mrs. Fay is the former ELEANOR FOX, '51.

WILLIAM C. DARR (also MS '52) is a member of the research division of Mound

Laboratory, which Monsanto Chemical Co. operates in Miamisburg, Ohio, for the Atomic Energy Commission.

KATHRYN JOHNSON has been awarded a fellowship at Gottingen University in Germany. She received her master's degree from the University of Michigan this year. She also studied on a fellowship at the Ann Arbor school. The overseas fellowship was arranged through the Institute of International Education. While in Germany, Miss Johnson will work toward her PhD.

GLORIA JEAN AXE has started graduate work at the National Catholic School of Social Work, Catholic University of America. She was awarded a scholarship for the study through the Columbus Diocesan Council of the National Council of Catholic Women. She plans to return to Columbus to work with Catholic Welfare following completion of her two-year program.

ALEX NAGY is doing public relations for Matt Knitting, Inc., Osage, Iowa. He was formerly advertising manager of the Mitchell County (Iowa) Press.

1952

(Next month the ALUMNUS will publish a complete or possible account of what the members of the most recent alumni group are doing. The information cards are returning to the Alumni Office daily, so watch November for news of 52's. Meantime, here's a few. Ed.)

MYRON BURT has been named basketball coach at Carrollton (Ohio) High School. He also will teach history and physical education. A 1933 high school graduate, Mr. Burt's college career was interrupted after a couple of years, and he was subsequently athletic coach for Republic Steel and Packard Electric at Warren, purchasing agent for Ekco Products of Bylesville, Ohio, VA office employee in Athens, in addition to serving three-and-a-half years with the 25th Inf. Div. in the Pacific Theater in World War II.

THOMAS F. HILL is band director at Murray City (Ohio) High School.

WILLIAM CHAPMAN has joined the Washington National Insurance Co. in Evanston, Ill.

ALAN RIEDEL has received a scholarship at Western Reserve School of Law for the 1952-53 year.

Engagements

MARIRUTH DRESBACH, '51, Ashville, teacher (Upper Arlington), to HOWARD P. SEUBERT, '49, Galion, associated with the General Motors Ternstedt Division, Columbus.

Louise Hellstern, Canton, nurse, to WILLIAM MRAZ, '51, Canton, meter engineer in the standardizing laboratory of the Ohio Power Company. A November wedding is planned.

DIANNE DAVIDSON, '52, Columbus, to EDGAR J. ZORN, '52, Columbus. The wedding will be an event of the fall season.

PATRICIA ANNE FARIS, '52, Toledo, to John Alexander McWilliams, Toledo, a Dartmouth College graduate.

MISS EVELYN YOE

EVELYN MARIE YOE, '51, psychometrist, Ohio Bell Telephone Co., Cleveland, to ROBERT GEORGE JAROSICK, '50, Cleveland, credit investigator and adjutor at University CIT. The marriage will be an October event.

CHARLOTTE LOIS FAIN, '53, Shaker Heights, to Gary G. Newman, Shaker Heights, Ohio State University graduate.

LOIS HARRY, '52, Glouster, to GENE DUNN, '50, MEd '51, Portsmouth, affiliated with General Electric in Cincinnati. No definite date has been set for the wedding.

Linda Fee, Cisco, Texas, University of Texas graduate, to RAYMOND E. FAURCHILD, '48, Athens, with Pan-American Production Company, Abilene, Texas. The marriage will be an event of October 11 at the ranch home of the bride-elect.

Marriages

KATHRYN GOTTSBALL, BFA '49, MA '50, Alliance, former speech instructor, University of West Virginia (Morgantown), to JACK F. BENSEN, a member of the University of Florida faculty, June 2, 1951. At home: 1724 N.W. Second Ave., Gainesville, Fla.

MARGARET ANN "PEGGY" QUINN, '52, Flushing, N. Y., to JOHN TIPT NYE, '52, Athens, June 14. At home: Churchill Apts., Walnut Hills, Petersburg, Va., where Lt. Nye is on duty at Camp Lee.

MARY ELLEN TRAUBERT, '50, Wellsburg, W. Va. teacher (East Liverpool), to JOHN FRANCES MADDEN, '51, Columbus, associated with Ternstedt Division of General Motors, June 21. At home: 86 S. Ogden, Columbus.

BARBARA ANNE GAINES, '49, Cleveland Heights, to RICHARD HILE PERSING, '49, Cleveland Heights, June 21. At home: 1124 Brentwood Rd., Cleveland Heights.

JEAN ELLEN BASISTA, '52, Toronto, to G. RICHARD WEST, Portsmouth, June 21. Mr. West will receive his degree from Ohio University in 1953, and Mrs. West is an assistant in the News Bureau. At home: 190 E. State St., Athens. Bridesmaid: JANET PICKENPAUGH, '52.

MARY LOU HICKMAN, '51, Malden, W. Va., teacher (Cleveland), to WAYNE R. BUTTERWORTH, '50, Marion junior at the Western Reserve School of Dentistry in Cleveland, June 28. At home: 13520 Casper Rd., Cleveland.

PATRICIA LOUISE LOCKE, '52, Hamilton, to LT. CARL A. ZELLERS, '51, Baltimore, Md., June 28. At home: Honolulu, Hawaii, where Lt. Zellers is serving with the Air Force at Hickam Field.

ALICE STOWELL, '42, Newark, teacher, to OTEY W. BLAIN, Newark, May 23. At home: 215 N. Fifth St., Newark.

JANE K. MAIZE, '51, Columbus, secretary, Department of Physical Education, Ohio State University, to RICHARD W. STONE, '51, Columbus, senior at Ohio State, June 21. At home: 16 W. Torrence Rd., Columbus.

Ruth Jacobs, Philadelphia, Pa., to MEL MICHAEL STEFLE, '52, Brooklyn, N. Y., Lieutenant, U. S. Air Force Reserve, June 29.

PHYLLIS O'DELL, '51, Richmondale, secretary, Farm Bureau Insurance Co., (Columbus), to RILEY S. DOUGAN, graduate student at Ohio State University, June 6. At home: 295 W. 10th Ave., Columbus.

MARGARET SAYLES, '48, Sandusky, to DON E. PURCELL, Sandusky, graduate of Miami University, accountant with Aluminum and Magnesium, Inc., June 28. Included in the wedding party: EMILY SAYLES, '52, Mrs. Robert Arter (LOIS SAYLES, '50), MARILYN MAXWELL, '48, and DAVID SAYLES, '55. At home: 805 Decatur St., Sandusky.

Eve Graham, Washington, D. C., graduate of Indiana University and Stephens College, to LT. COL. JAMES VANCE GALLOWAY, '40, Gloucester, June 7. Col. Galloway is stationed in Heidelberg, Germany, where he is aide-de-camp to General Thomas T. Handy, commander-in-chief of the European Command.

NILA M. BURGER, '52, North Judson, Ind., teacher (Sidney), to EUGENE P. ELSASS, '52, Sidney, Life Insurance Underwriter, July 27. At home: 218 Lane Ave., Sidney.

Carolyn Jane Brownlee, Youngstown, in the accounting department of the General Fireproofing Co., to CLAUDE W. KLDASH, '49, Chillicothe, July 26.

DELORES ANN FISCHER, '53, Canton, to DONALD E. KREAGER, '51, Newark, salesman with Pure Oil Co., January 19. At home: 155 Hudson St., Newark.

EMMY LOUISE BAUCKLER, '49, Shaker Heights, to RICHARD D. WARMAN, Uhrichsville, graduate of Kenyon College, June 27.

BETTY EILEEN BRANDT, '51, Steubenville, teacher, to ROBERT LAMARR RALSTON, '52, Steubenville, U. S. Army at Mountain Home, Idaho, June 21. Bridesmaid: RUTH HARTFORD, '51.

Dolores Janet Moore, Newark, to RICHARD FRANCIS SACHS, '50, Newark, associated with the state department of highways, June 28. At home: 568 West Main St., Newark.

INA SYDELLE BARKAN, '52, Cleveland Heights, teacher, to ALAN RICHARD LANDY, '51, Cleveland Heights, June 15.

Mary Lynn Pomeroy, Cleveland, teacher, to JAMES A. MACMILLAN, JR., '51, Cleveland Heights, attending Western Reserve Law School, June 20.

Blanche Ann Jeffers, Athens, to CARL L. WIRCK, '52, Quincy, June 22. Mr. Wirck is with the U. S. Army, stationed at Fort Knox, Ky.

Heliodora Broski, Cleveland, to FRANCIS J. LENGEL, '52, Dillonvale, advertising artist with Batton, Barton, Durstine & Osborne, Cleveland, June 14. At home: 5108 Walworth Ave., Cleveland.

DOROTHY WOOD, '51, Bloomingdale, continuity director for Station WSRB, Cleveland, to ROBERT TRIVISON, '52, East Cleveland, internal auditor, U. S. Steel Co., June 28. At home: 1486 E. 258th St., Euclid, Bridesmaid: JEAN TEMPLER, '50. Groom's attendants: JIM DRAY, '50; FRED FINOMORE, '52; JOSEPH MCCREADY, '52.

Louisa Mae Cunningham, Coolville, to ROBERT DALE REED, '52, Coolville, with the U. S. Air Force Reserve, June 15.

RUTH ELAINE KABER, '51, Cleveland, to Leland Rubenstein, Cleveland, graduate of Western Reserve University, June 15.

Leona Mae Barnes, Uhrichsville, to JOHN BAIRD FINSTERWALD, '49, Athens, Columbus

Post Office employee, June 28. At home: 123 W. Second Ave., Columbus.

ESTHER ANN FARLEY, '52, Athens, to DAVID H. FERRY, '51, Hornell, N. Y., accountant with Ohio Bell Telephone Company, June 22. At home: Virginia Lee Apartments, Columbus.

EDNA MAE OVERHOLT, '51, Wadsworth, teacher (Barberton), to RONALD KNECHT, Wadsworth, with the Seiberling Rubber Company, July 5. At home: 454 Broad St., Wadsworth.

MARGARET PLAS, '51, Elyria, teacher, to EUGENE BAUREISS, '52, Hamilton, with U. S. Armed Forces, July 5.

RUTH OWEN GENTRY, '46, Athens, religious education director, to LT. RICHARD W. THOMPSON, Akron, a University of Akron graduate, July 4. Immediately following their wedding, the couple left for Germany where Lt. Thompson is stationed with the U. S. Air Force as a communications and electronics officer.

Dolores Pike, Cleveland, nurse, to JOHN HUBAT, JR., '43, Cleveland, teacher, Shore School in Euclid, July 5. At home: 1270 E. 173rd St., Cleveland.

JUDITH ANN BETTS, '52, Nelsonville, to LEE WYSONG, '52, Dayton, July 13. At home: 117 North Ave., Dayton.

Joan Baker, Duncan Falls, graduate of Baldwin-Wallace college, teacher, (Elyria) to LT. BOYD WALLACE POST, '50, Corning, stationed at Westover Air Force Base in Massachusetts, July 19. At home: 247 Oak St., Holyoke, Mass.

BARBARA WELFER, '52, Yellow Springs, teacher (Shelby), to ROBERT V. PALKO, '51, Cleveland, July 21, golf pro at Scott Practice Range, Houston, Tex. At home: 7706 S. Main St., Houston, Tex.

FAY PICKENS, '42, Reedsville, teacher (Jackson) to HAROLD SAUER, '43, MS '45, Middleport, July 31. At home: Middleport.

Ellen Louise Neidhart, Norwood, graduate of Miami University, to JOHN A. MALDY, '50, Springfield, associated with Sears-Roebuck and Co., (Cincinnati), July 25. At home: 3400 Erie Ave., Hyde Park, Cincinnati.

CARLOTTE RUTH HUDSON, '54, Bellefontaine, in the offices of the Rockwell Register Corporation, to JOHN THOMAS BILSER, '52, Bellefontaine, July 12.

JOAN OHLIGER, '54, Steubenville, to JOHN J. WOOLLEY, JR., '52, Athens, U. S. Army at Indiantown Gap, Pa., July 19.

DIANE JO ZIEHRBACH, '53, Mansfield, to CHRIS STEFAN, '49, Dayton, coach, Wyoming High School, July 13.

Patricia Ann Ray, Huntington, W. Va., graduate of Marshall College, teacher, to PAUL EUGENE WILLIAMS, '52, Athens, junior in the College of Veterinary Medicine at Ohio State University, August 1. At home after October 1: 1406 Ohio St., Columbus.

ELEANOR HANLIN, '53, Youngstown, teacher, (Upper Sandusky), to EARL G. DAVIS, JR., '51, Athens, August 16. At home: 3741 Brentwood Dr., Flint, Michigan, where Mr. Davis is attending General Motors Institute.

NANCY FOSTER, '52, Warren, teacher, to JOSEPH J. PERRI, '51, Warren, August 25, 1951. At home: 1089 Clearview, N.W., Warren.

CORRINE MARIE DOLL, '51, and A. David Echert, Jr., of Columbus, were married on the CBS "Bride and Groom" television show August 12. Mrs. Echert has been teaching art in two Cincinnati schools. Mr. Echert is a 1952 graduate of the Cincinnati College of Pharmacy.

BARBARA JO WERNER, '48, Akron, to Karl F. Leupold, Jr., Ohio State University graduate, registered pharmacist, July 27. At home: 995 Romig Ave., Barberton.

MARTHA V. KRAMER, '52, Springfield, to ROBERT RIGEL, OU student, Warren, June 14.

NANCY E. SMITH, '52, Bridgeville, Pa., to DUANE DAWLEY, '52, Spencer, August 16. Mr. Dawley is doing graduate work at OU, and Mrs. Dawley is a teacher in the Rome-Canaan Schools at Stewart. At home: 3 N. May Ave., Athens.

MARY ANN DYE, '51, Eaton, to ERCOLO A. PICCIANO, '52, Wickliffe, August 23. At home: 215 Wadsworth St., Eaton.

LENORE MAREK, '50, Solon, to MACE M. MAGBEE, '50, Chillicothe, April 28, 1951.

Nancy Anne Smith, teacher, Dayton, to NORMAN LEE ROZELL, '51, Dayton, in the traffic management division at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, October 19.

JEANINE PECHMAJOU, '54, Seine, France, to WENDELL B. WHITACRE, '51, Chesterhill, August 4. Mr. Whitacre is in medical school at Ohio State University. At home: 1316 16th Ave., Columbus.

Mary King McLeish, Chicago, to RICHARD S. LYSAKOWSKI, '51, Chicago, September 6. Mr. Lysakowski is doing graduate work at Northwestern University. At home: 1536 E. 65th St., Apt. 4A, Chicago.

Births

JAMES LAWRENCE SKYDELL at two months

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Skydell (CAROL FELDHER '46) are the parents of the young man whose picture appears here. James Lawrence Skydell was born at New York's Lying-In Hospital on May 3. Mrs. Skydell, a journalism major, has been an assistant producer on the television production staff of Foley and Gordon, Inc. The Skydells live at 143-50 Hoover Ave., Briarwood, Long Island, New York.

Barbara Ann to ROBERT H. PARR, '47, and Mrs. Parr (MARTHA HOLCKER, '47), 20267 Bonniebank Blvd., Rocky River, April 23. Mr. Parr is a mortgage loan appraiser for the Prudential Insurance Company of America. Paternal grandparents: Mrs. C. H. Parr (ROSALIND F. UNKEFER, '18), and the late MR. PARR, '17, Washington, D. C.

Rebecca Lynn to KENNETH DARR, '49, and Mrs. Darr (DOROTHY J. FLOO, '49), 836 College Blvd., Ashland, July 7. Mr. Darr is a manufacturer's representative, selling toys and sporting goods in Ohio, Indiana, and Michigan.

Helen Corinne to the Rev. and Mrs. Hunter Beckelhymer, (BETTY JANE COURTNEY, '43), 904 N. Main, Kenton, August 19.

Carl Robert to JOHN D. ENGEL, '50, and Mrs. Engel (MARGARET ANN HALL, '50) 4500 Far Hills Ave., Dayton, July 17. Mr. Engel is assistant manager of the Hospital Budget Bureau, Inc.

John to MICHAEL OLASIN, '49, and Mrs. Olasin, McConnelsville, July 23. Mr. Olasin is athletic coach at Malta-McConnelsville High School.

Kim Chadwick to ROBERT W. BAXTER, '49, and Mrs. Baxter (JOAN TERRY, '51) 900 Summit Ave., Johnstown, Pa., April 27. Kim's father is a sales representative for the Sun Oil Company.

Brent Taylor to WILSON K. BAKER, '38, and Mrs. Baker (FRANCES RUTH TAYLOR, '42), 454 Richland Ave., Athens, June 30. Mr. Baker is a watchmaker with Chapman's Jewelry.

Geoffrey to SOL ROSENBERG, '35, and Mrs. Rosenberg, Elmwood Pl., Athens, June 30. Mr. Rosenberg owns and operates the Athens Junk Company.

Barbara Ann to MARTIN LEONARD, '50, and Mrs. Leonard (MARY MCCALLUM, '49), 1919 Paterson St., Rahway, N. J., February 12. Mr. Leonard is an industrial engineer with Westinghouse Electric Corporation, Hillside, N. J.

Janeth Augusta to F. B. "BEN" FULTON, '47, and Mrs. Fulton, (SYLVIA SCHULER, '46), London, England, August 12. Mr. Fulton is a co-pilot with the American Airlines.

Edwin Floyd Jones, III, to EDWIN F. JONES, JR., '48, and Mrs. Jones, 119 Broad St., Jackson, June 16.

Robert Straughn to Mr. and Mrs. George Drach (ALICE MECHEM, '42), 10 Sunnyside Dr., Athens, July 19. Robert's father is associated with Mechem's Shoe Store.

Linda Jean to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Erdle (DORIS SIEGFRIED, '38), 1206 "Y" St., Vancouver, Wash., July 8.

James William to PHILIP BLEY, '48, and Mrs. Bley, 159-6th St., Scotia, N. Y., July 8. Mr. Bley is a music supervisor.

Mary Alisa to CHARLES R. LEWIS, '40, and Mrs. Lewis, Charleston, W. Va., July 2. Mr. Lewis is state sports editor of a Charleston newspaper.

Kathy Vera to JAMES T. MCGIRR, '52, and Mrs. McGirr (MONA JOAN DAVIS, '50), July 6.

David John to HARRY J. DAVIS, '41, and Mrs. Davis (GERTRUDE GADUS, '40), 2004 E. Ninth St., Salt Lake City, Utah, August 15. Mr. Davis is a salesman with the Standard Oil Company.

Bradley Scott to ERLE BRIDGEWATER, JR., '40, and Mrs. Bridgewater, 4 Roosevelt Drive, Athens, August 4. Mr. Bridgewater is an attorney.

Barbara Christine to HERBERT JOHNSTON, '49, and Mrs. Johnston (JEAN COLLIS, '50), 1504 Elmwood Ave., Columbus, June 12.

Sara Lee to GEORGE RISER, '49, and Mrs. Risier (JOAN ALGEO, '49), Canton Rd., Steubenville, August 10. Mr. Risier is a coach at Jefferson-Union High School, Richmond, Ohio.

David Eugene to PAUL BAXTER, '50, and Mrs. Baxter (JOANNE BAILEY, '52), 4033 E. Lake Rd., Lorain, August 25. Mr. Baxter is on the faculty at Lincoln School.

David Wilson to WILLIAM L. FAY, '51, and Mrs. Fay (ELEANOR M. FOX, '51), Observatory Apts., Marietta, July 14. Mr. Fay is on the faculty at Marietta College.

Cynthia Jo to Mr. and Mrs. John Mahaffey, (THELMA RAY, '49), 195 E. Summit St., Galion, August 15. Mr. Mahaffey is loan manager of The Colonial Finance Co.

Twins: Bruce and Cathy, to CHARLES "CY" CAMPBELL, '49, MA '50, and Mrs. Campbell, 3939 Cleveland Ave., S.W., Canton, July 6. Mrs. Campbell is a former dietician at Mens Dorm, and Mr. Campbell is a teacher at Canton South High School.

William Bruce to WILLIAM H. MORRIS, '51, and Mrs. Morris (SHIRLEY ANDREWS, '52), Duncan Falls, August 14.

Charles Warren to CHARLES DAUTEL, '48, and Mrs. Dautel (ISABELLE BROWN, '46), 2822 Victoria Ave., Apt. 3, Cincinnati, August 27. Mr. Dautel is in the University of Cincinnati Law School.

Christopher Edward to THOMAS TURNBULL, MS '49, and Mrs. Turnbull, 757 E. State St., Athens, August 31. Mr. Turnbull is assistant professor of journalism at Ohio University.

Mary Modelle to RAYMOND A. STREKAL, '51, and Mrs. Strekal (ANNABELLE WHITE, '46), 1429 Peabody Ct., St. Louis, Mo., July 26. Mr. Strekal is a student at St. Louis Dental School.

Bonnie Jean to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Boyd (JEAN MALLOW, '46), 12132 Mitchell Ave., Culver City, Calif., August 30.

Elizabeth Cowell to DR. CHARLES W. MILLER, '38, and Mrs. Miller, 126 East Main St., Crestline, August 25.

Stephen Hugh to JOHN G. TODD, '52, and Mrs. Todd, Fairgrounds Trailer Camp, Athens, July 25. Mr. Todd is working toward a masters degree at Ohio University.

Jaclynn Louise to LYLE V. UDALL, '48, and Mrs. Udall (JEAN C. HENDRICKS, '49), 300 W. Church St., Oxford, June 20.

Bill to CHARLES D. BURDETTE, '47, and Mrs. Burdette, 14322 Terminal St., Cleveland, May 30.

Keith Dale to Mr. and Mrs. W. Lee Faulkner, (HELEN DEGENER, '44), 2512 N. Main St., Findlay, Sept. 27, 1951. Mr. Faulkner is assistant advertising and sales promotion manager. Cooper Tire & Rubber Co.

William Bruce to WILLIAM J. RADFORD, '41, and Mrs. Radford, 710 Guilford Court, Silver Springs, Md., January 11.

Diana Ruth to GLENN F. MARKLEY, '50, and Mrs. Markley (RUTH WARNE, '49), Route 4, Mansfield, June 24. Mr. Markley is owner and manager of Markley Electronic Laboratory.

Nancy Jane to EDWIN MCPHERSON, '48, and Mrs. McPherson, (ELIZABETH J. MORRIS, '45), Boys' Industrial School, Lancaster, June 27. Mr. McPherson is physical education instructor at BIS.

Katherine Ann to ROBERT WAHRER, '49, and Mrs. Wahrer (VIVIAN MAURER, '47), 608A North Main, Sidney, March 28.

Richard Wilson to HENDERSON L. ADAMS, '37, and Mrs. Adams (GLADYS MITCHELL, '39), Branch St., Elkin Hill, Chapel Hill, N. C., August 28.

Linda Kay to JAMES I. CRAIG, '52, and Mrs. Craig, 65 Taylor Rd., Windsor, Conn., May 1. Mr. Craig is a reporter on the Hartford (Conn.) Contract.

Bertram Alan Gold to SANFORD GOLD, '51, and Mrs. Gold (HELEN WEINBERGER, '51), 27381 Tremaine Dr., Euclid, Nov. 28, 1951.

Jeffrey William to WILLIAM H. RAUCH, '43, and Mrs. Rauch (VIRGINIA DEJEAN, '40), 3108 Overbrook Ct., N.W., Canton, May 26. Mr. Rauch is on the senior advertising staff of Goodyear in Akron.

Clayton Ford Riley, Jr., to CLAYTON RILEY, '50, and Mrs. Riley, 3680 Hedrick, Jacksonville, Fla., June 1. Mr. Riley operates the C. F. Riley Sales Co.

James Pierce to JAMES MCCLEANAHAN, '39, and Mrs. Clanahan (MARIAN PIERCE, '36), 1622 Northland Ave., Lakewood, September 7.

Stephen Nile to Arthur L. Chiki and Mrs. Chiki (JO ANN WILLIAMSON, '47), 40 Ohio Ave., Athens, August 12. Mr. Chiki is associated with The McBee Company.

Harriet Sue to EUGENE HUHTALA, '42, and Mrs. Huhtala (BETTY LOUISE STRUTHERS, '41), 435½ E. Center St., Fostoria, June 13. Mr. Huhtala is an accountant with the Fostoria Review-Times.

Frederick Burt to EARL S. HALLER JR., '37, and Mrs. Haller (JOAN PARKS, '42), 22 S. May Ave., Athens, June 6. Mr. Haller is an engineer with the Soil Conservation Service.

Joseph Dent to LEE L. ENLOW, '42, and Mrs. Enlow, R.F.D. 1, Athens, May 28.

Deaths

WILLIAM M. SMITH

WILLIAM MACKAY SMITH

WILLIAM M. (BILL) SMITH, '48, died in University Hospital, Columbus, August 13, of injuries received in an auto accident August 4.

Mr. Smith, 29 years old, was a staff announcer for television station WLW-C. He was a former music director and announcer at station WVKO, joining the WLW-C staff last October. A prominent and versatile musician, he was a drummer with the Chuck Selby orchestra and tympanist with the Columbus Little Symphony. A World War II veteran, he had been assistant director of radio at Ohio State University, where he received his master's degree. On the Ohio University campus, he led a popular dance band under the name of "Willie McKay."

Survivors include his wife, Beverly, and his mother, Mrs. Frank Rose of Parkersburg, W. Va.

MILTON MAYWOLD BROWN

THE REV. MILTON M. BROWN, '13, died August 17 in Bremen following a long illness.

The Rev. Mr. Brown, age 72, had completed commercial work in 1903 at Ohio University, which in 1918 granted him an honorary M.A. A former Ohio Wesleyan University faculty member and Methodist minister, he was a graduate of Drew Theological Seminary.

PEARL THEODORE BARNHILL

PEARL T. BARNHILL, '23, was killed in an auto accident in downtown Youngstown August 14.

Mr. Barnhill, age 52, was a former Athens County school teacher. He had operated a Mahoning County wholesale and retail business for 25 years.

Survivors include his wife, Gladys, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bura Barnhill of Athens. Also four brothers, LOWELL, '31; HARLEY, '28, Lakewood; OTIS, '24, Akron; WALTER, '19, Warren, and a sister, Mrs. AMY BARNHILL PLATTS, Hubbard, Ohio.

ELMER WHEELER GLOVER

ELMER W. GLOVER, '31, died July 5 in Dover of a heart attack.

Mr. Glover, 46 years old, a native of West Virginia, had been a resident of Dover since 1916. For the past five years he had operated a nursing home. Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Isabel Glover.

MRS. JAMES P. PORTER

Mrs. James P. Porter, wife of a former head of the University's Department of Psychology, died September 6 in Swarthmore, Pa.

Mrs. Porter's husband was head of the department when he retired about 10 years ago, at which time the family went to Danville, Ill. They had gone to Swarthmore last spring.

Besides Dr. Porter, survivors include two daughters, Mrs. P. M. Dixon, Swarthmore, and Mrs. S. M. Green of Hudson, N. Y.

JOHN KENNY FITZMAURICE

JOHN K. (JACK) FITZMAURICE, '52, died in a New York City hospital July 12 following an illness of several months.

Mr. Fitzmaurice, who was born in New York City, had attended Fordham University, Manhattan College, and Union College and University before taking his degree at Ohio University.

JOHN K. FITZMAURICE

A World War II Navy veteran, he spent four years with the Navy's famed "frogmen."

In the spring semester of 1952, he taught part-time in the high school at Glouster. His illness forced him to leave school in May prior to graduation and his Bachelor of Science in Education degree was granted in absentia.

Survivors include his wife, Kathleen, a former member of the Alumni Office staff, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fitzmaurice of New York City.

WILLIAM EARL BECKLEY

W. EARL BECKLEY, '23, died July 5, in Athens following an illness of nine months.

Born in McArthur, Mr. Beckley, aged 51, had lived in Athens for the past 32 years, where he was partner in the J. L. Beckley and Sons men's store. In World War II, he was associated with the OPA in Toledo and later with the A. Stein Co. in Chicago. He had been with the Bantz Brothers store in Zanesville for two years prior to returning to Athens in 1949.

Survivors include his wife, Jane; mother, Mrs. John L. Beckley of Athens; son, LT. WILLIAM M. BECKLEY, '50, recently returned from Air Force duty in Korea; daughter, Mrs. James Burr (JANE BECKLEY, '47) of Woodstown, N. J.; sister, Mrs. Don McVay (ETHEL BECKLEY, '15) of LeRoy; brothers, HARRY, '10, and PAUL, '32, both of Athens.

LILLIAN MOORE BOWERS

MRS. SCOTT T. BOWERS, '37, died July 31 at Xenia Doctors' Hospital, where she had been admitted for treatment of a heart ailment.

A native of Nelsonville, Mrs. Bowers, age 41, had been a school teacher 18 years and had completed the spring term as first grade teacher in the Larnborn schools prior to her death. She completed her elementary education diploma requirements in 1931.

Survivors include her husband and her mother, Mrs. Ethel V. Moore of Nelsonville. MR. BOWERS, a member of the University of Dayton faculty, received his bachelor's degree from Ohio University in 1936 and his master's in 1945.

1952

HOMECOMING

Saturday, October 25

The BOBCATS vs Miami

HOMECOMING is a lot of things, and it's all things to all people. It's something different for the undergraduates than it is for the alumni. They'll have to become alums to get the full meaning of this great college tradition. Homecoming to us is football and floats, but more than that it's friends and fun and a lot of "Do you remember the time . . ." stories, a few factual, but most of them pleasingly embellished by the years and numerous retellings

It's a gala occasion—Homecoming. But sometime in the gaiety there is for each of us a serious moment as we think back to the wonderful and important years in our life that will never be duplicated

We hope you will be here for this year's Homecoming. And for those of you who haven't been back within the past few years, there'll be an extra thrill when you see the new buildings and the grand new Student Center that is rapidly taking shape

This year the float parade will be at 1 p.m. in the stadium

Dances: Torch-ODK in Armory—WRA in Men's Gym

'Open House' at fraternities and sororities

OHIO UNIVERSITY LIBRARY

Please return this book as soon as you have finished with it. In order to avoid a fine it must be returned by the latest date stamped below.

NOON

MAR 6 1987

CF

L4 F .055 1552x v.30-32 Oct.
1951- June 1954

The Ohio alumnus.

PERIODICALS

L4 F .055 0552x v.30-32 Oct.
1951- June 1954

The Ohio alumnus.

PERIODICALS

OHIO UNIVERSITY LIBRARIES

1002282697

Southeast Ohio Regional Library Depository

Row Range Shelf Pos Item Ck
8 18 06 07 02 013 1